Serving the Poconos

VOL. 72—NO. 181 STROUDSBURG—EAST STROUDSBURG, PA. TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1960 Dial HA 1-3000 7 Cents

CRISP AND CHIPPER — The crisp Autumn weather brings out much more than the colorful foliage which enhances the Pocono Mountains, it brings out such charming lassies as Delia Stauffer. Miss Stauffer has been selected as the calendar girl for the month of November. As a traffic operator at Bell Telephone Co., Stroudsburg, the sportswoman also finds time to horseback through the countryside. She is the daughter of Mrs. Pearl I. Stauffer, of 339 Lincoln Ave., East Stroudsburg.

Ike To Tour Ohio, Pennsylvania

Both States Weigh Heavily In Election

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower probably will speak in Cleveland and Pittsburgh late this week in an increased effort to help Richard M. Nixon win the presidency.

The White House described this development Monday as quite likely, with both cities to be visited the same day, probably Friday but possibly Saturday.

Cleveland and Pittsburgh are among the chief cities in two crucial states—Ohio has 25 of the nation's electoral votes and Pennsylvania 32.

Both states have given warm receptions to Nixon and his Democratic presidential opponent, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Eisenhower, Nixon and other Republican strategists talked things over for more than two hours at the White House Monday. Newsmen got to see neither of them, but James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, gave some information.

No Details

It was Hagerty who talked of presidential trips to Cleveland and Pittsburgh as strong probabilities. He declined to go into details of strategy for the campaign.

Hagerty likewise refused to relay any word on how Eisenhower feels about the prospective outcome of the election, one week from Tuesday.

Sen. John F. Kennedy said Monday night in Philadelphia that in the Nov. 8 election all America will speak to all the world and its message must be that "America is going to start moving again."

"If we continue to stand still, if we stay grounded on dead center, if we content ourselves with our material goods and our easy life and our rosy reassurances, then the gates will soon be open to a lean and hungry enemy," the Democratic presidential candidate said.

His nationally televised speech from Convention Hall at a $100-a-plate dinner capped four intensive days of campaigning in Pennsylvania, three of them in Philadelphia and its environs.

Kennedy, who will start a two-day swing through California Tuesday, spent most of Monday in a motorcade tour of this Democratic-controlled city and said "the United States cannot possibly afford four years of Republican leadership under Mr. Nixon."

He pictured Vice President Nixon, his Republican rival, as being opposed to what he called the progressive measures necessary to assure a strong, vital, growing country.

Kennedy hoped to pile up a heavy enough margin in Philadelphia, carried by the Democrats in each of the last two presidential elections, to overcome Republican strength in other parts of the state.

Like California, Nixon's home state, Pennsylvania is a key battleground in the presidential election. Each has 32 electoral votes, second only to New York's 45.

In Newark, N. J., Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Monday night Sen. John F. Kennedy had shown "such ignorance of simple economics as to disqualify him to be president."

The Republican presidential nominee made the charge in a speech to an enthusiastic crowd estimated at 15,000 at Ridgewood in heavily Republican Bergen County, 23 miles north of Newark.

The vice president said his opponent had displayed this ignorance in insisting that the Democratic platform could be carried out with a balanced budget and without an increase in taxes. Actually, Nixon said, the platform pledges would cost $15 billion and could not possibly be put into effect without a budget deficit unless federal taxes were raised.

Nixon joined up for the second time in the campaign with his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, in making a final bid for New Jersey's 16 electoral votes.

The Democrats have been counting on carrying New Jersey but some Republican leaders in the state were saying at Monday night's rallies that their chances were looking up and the crowds Nixon replied with some taunts of were a good omen.

In his speech at Ridgewood, his own to barbs hurled at him earlier in the day by Kennedy over a fifth radio-television debate.

GROUNDED — The tractor-trailer owned by Bachman Oil Co. rests on its back after it was rolled over by its driver yesterday at 4:04 p.m. at the intersection of Phillips and N. Fifth Streets, Stroudsburg. The driver, Peter Maaser, kicked out the windshield and crawled uninjured from the cab. Maaser said he rolled the vehicle over to avoid endangering lives of others.

Says Affairs 'Deplorable' At Scranton State Hosp.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Aud. Gen. Charles C. Smith Monday charged that administrative affairs at Scranton State Hospital "are nothing short of deplorable."

In a report to Gov. David L. Lawrence covering the hospital's fiscal operations for the three years ended May 31, 1959, Smith said:

"Records of every nature have been falsified, including personnel records, bids, bid proposals, contracts and purchasing orders, the entire area encompassed within this report.

"In the course of our audit there was a system of planned concealment of records and an examination of the serialization of these documents indicates that an undetermined number have apparently been destroyed."

Smith said purchasing at the institution was conducted with "gross excessiveness" and that there was either nondelivery or "fraudulent disposition" of many purchases.

"Total Disregard"

"There was a total disregard of practically every established procedure for the handling and maintenance of records resulting in great detriment to the financial interests of the Commonwealth.

"This disregard was characterized, not only by flagrant irresponsibility, but also a blatant and continuous conspiracy to defraud and cheat the Commonwealth of considerable sums of money."

Recommendations

Smith recommended that the governor take these eight steps to bring the hospital's fiscal affairs into what he said are proper perspective:

Put all administration of the hospital directly under the Welfare and the Justice departments.

Order the Justice Department to investigate to determine any liability "whether civil or criminal."

Have the Welfare Department establish accounting procedures as prescribed by state law in the institution.

Inform the hospital board it is responsible for any handling of fiscal affairs at the institution.

Press for reimbursement of $71,849 which Smith said is money "improperly disbursed for meat and meat products."

Freeze the salary of John Obzud, a hospital administrative officer.

Order compliance of persons involved in the hospital audit with auditor general's summons.

Suspend six officials of the hospital, including Obzud, from further duty pending disposition of the charges.

The others named by Smith are: James Rosenfeld, superintendent; Benjamin Reese, comptroller; Joseph F. Noone, a clerk; James Nocera Jr., also a clerk, and Mrs. Kathryn Barrett, a clerk typist.

The auditor general said he was recommending suspension of the six "by reason of either their knowledge of the conspiracy being perpetrated and their failure to correct the situation, or their active participation in the conspiracy, whether directly or indirectly, and-or both, and any attempt to actively conceal the facts or prevent the acquisition thereof by representatives of this (auditor general's) department."

Grief-Stricken Viewers File Past Plane Victims

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP)—They filed silently into the massive new gymnasium Monday, the quiet shuffling of their feet in strange contrast to the cheers which normally echo across its glistening floor.

They were the students and faculty of California State Polytechnic College and the townspeople from San Luis Obispo, brought together in grief at a memorial service. Sixteen members of the school's football team and six other persons died in a flaming plane crash at Toledo, Ohio, Saturday night.

There was none of the blithe, happy by-play between students, no cheery greetings, no jostling as they massed at the entrances, just the muted tread of hundreds of feet moving slowly toward the seats.

A Presbyterian minister, the Rev. Ray Herr, gave the invocation.

Robert Kennedy, vice president of the college, told of the awesome moment when first word of the tragedy reached the campus. At that time it was feared all 48 persons aboard the chartered plane had perished, but there were survivors.

"For this we are deeply grateful," he said. But when he spoke of the sorrow in the homes of those who died, muffled sobs rose from the audience and continued through the rest of the 20-minute service.

The three remaining games on the football schedule have been canceled.

"I guess everybody will smile again some time, but it's going to be an awfully long time," said Mrs. Lena Plunkett, restaurant hostess at a campus hangout. "This is a small town and tragedy strikes us all deeply."

'Neglect' Hinted In Plane Crash

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Authorities took up the grim task Monday of preparing the bodies of 22 victims of Saturday's airliner crash for return to their homes.

All but three of the dead lived in California. Two were from Elkton, Md., and one lived in Chicago.

They died when a twin-engine charter flight, attempting a takeoff in a heavy fog, crashed and burned. The California-bound aircraft carried 48 persons, including the California Polytechnic College football team.

In Washington, the government suspended the flying certificate of Arctic Pacific, Inc., which operated the C46.

Circumstances of the accident "indicate a gross disregard for public safety and the regulations of the Federal Aviation Agency," said E. R. Quesada, federal aviation administrator.

James Springer, head of the airlines, countered that "The facts brought out by the investigation will not indicate anything of that severe a nature."

Springer, who was in Toledo to arrange transportation for the victims' bodies, said the suspension was "a complete surprise" and would have "a very serious effect on our airline." The Oakland, Calif., firm operates three aircraft in addition to the one that crashed.

Survivors of the disaster said the plane wobbled on takeoff and that one engine failed. The plane sat on the runway for about 45 minutes before the takeoff was attempted. During that time, said Brent Jobe, 19, Vista, Calif., Cal Poly head coach Leroy Hughes conferred with the pilot, Capt. Donald G. Chesser.

Jobe said the coach told the passengers:

"The pilot has more in this than anyone else. He wouldn't take any chances. We have nothing to worry about."

Preparation of a report on the crash may take several weeks, John M. Cyrocki of the Civil Aeronautics Board said.

He said the CAB was "not in a position to guess" at what caused the crash.

Oil Tanker Flips Over On Fifth St.

PETER MAASER, operating a tractor-trailer, owned by Bachman Oil Co., East Stroudsburg, loaded with 4,600 gallons of fuel oil rolled the vehicle over as he entered Fifth Street as he neared the Phillips Street intersection yesterday at 4.04 p.m. He crawled from the wreckage unhurt.

Maaser said, "I applied the brakes at the top of the hill (on Phillips Street near Queen Street) and the brake pedal went to the floor with no action from the brakes. My first thought was to get the truck stopped before it would cause a very serious accident.

"I applied the emergency brake but it did not stop me—although it did slow me down. As I neared the intersection at Wallace and Phillips I saw a car, and blinked my lights and blew the horn," Maaser continued.

The unidentified driver of the car realized that something was wrong and stopped his car across Fifth Street so no other cars could get through the intersection.

"As I came around the corner I jacknifed the trailer so it would roll over and the danger of someone being killed by a runaway truck would be over, and kicked out the windshield to get out of the cab," said Maaser.

Police investigating the accident checked the air pressure gauge and found it registered 90 pounds pressure.

The Stroudsburg Fire Department was called to the scene to fight any fire that would have started. The only fire was quickly extinguished by Ottmar Hagerty after Mrs. William Johnson gave him a small home extinguisher.

The fire was caused by the emergency brake on the tractor.

Members of the fire department stood by until Stanley Heller moved in and set the vehicle back on its wheels with his mobile crane.

Police investigating the accident estimated the damage to the tractor and trailer at $1,500.

John Bachman, owner of Bachman Oil Co. said late last night that he could not say how much of the 4,600 gallons of fuel oil was lost. The trailer will be inventoried today.

Car, Truck Collide

NO ONE was injured in a collision between a car and a truck near the intersections of Routes 402 and 209 in Marshalls Creek at 2 p.m. yesterday.

State Police of the local barracks identified the drivers as Rea Wintermute, 74, of 203 Catherine St., Milford, and Howard Kline, 61, of 406 S. Main St., Lewistown, operating a truck owned by Norr Motor Freight, Inc., Lewistown.

They estimated damage to Wintermute's car at $500 and damage to the truck at $250.

Troopers said Wintermute, traveling east on the highway, applied his brakes to avoid a pedestrian and his car skidded on the rain-wet road and struck the truck almost headon.

Percy Crawford, Evangelist, Dies

REV. DR. Percy Crawford, 58, owner and operator of Pinebrook Bible Conference on Route 90, two miles north of Stroudsburg, died yesterday at 6 p.m. in St. Francis Hospital, Trentown, N. J., following a heart attack.

Dr. Crawford, a pioneer in radio evangelism, was stricken Saturday on the New Jersey Turnpike while en route to a church service in Lancaster. He was rushed to the hospital where he succumbed. He had suffered a heart ailment for several years.

He founded the Pinebrook Bible Conference in Monroe County approximately 28 years ago. The conference has grown to three camps, Pinebrook, Sunnybrook, and Mountain Brook.

Dr. Crawford was a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles, and Westminster Theological Seminary in Philadelphia.

He was an ordained Presbyterian minister.

Dr. Crawford founded "The Young People's Church of the Air" approximately 30 years ago and continued to operate it up to the time of his death. He founded The King's College on the Marconi Estate at Belmar, N. J., in 1938, moving the college to New Castle, Del., in 1940, and to its present site in Briar Cliff Manor, N. Y., in 1954, where he also made his home.

In addition he was the owner and operator of the first and only independent religious television station in the United States, WPCA-TV, channel 17, Philadelphia.

Dr. Crawford also owned and operated five FM and one AM radio stations from coast to coast.

He married the former Ruth Duvall of Collingswood, N. J., and was the father of five children, Donald, 22; Dick, 21. Dan; 19; Dean, 16; and Donna Lee, 10; all of Briar Cliff Manor.

Funeral services will be held Friday at a time and place to be announced.

Editorial Series To State Choices

THE DAILY RECORD today is publishing the first of a series of editorials endorsing candidates for office at next Tuesday's General Election.

Today's editorial concerns the office of a member of the Pennsylvania General Assembly. This will be followed tomorrow by one supporting a candidate for the U. S. House of Representatives.

The third will be published Wednesday, stating the newspaper's opinion with respect to the presidential contest.

Turn now to Page Four for the first editorial of the series.

GM Will Spend Billion On Plants

NEW YORK (AP)—General Motors Corp. Monday disclosed plans to spend $1.25 billion for new and improved plants in 1961, including nearly $1 billion in the United States.

The announcement by Chairman Frederic G. Donner was coupled with a strong statement of confidence in "vigorous long-term growth" of the automobile industry in the U.S. and abroad.

Donner did not directly mention the present state of the national economy, but possibly had it in mind in predicting sales of seven million domestic and foreign passenger car units in the United States next year.

He conditioned the forecast on a continued rise in consumer income and consumer confidence. The prospect he sketched was more optimistic than those drawn earlier by some other industry leaders.

The GM chief spoke to 600 business, industry and finance leaders at a luncheon introducing the new GM models.

Donner said the population growth, a rise in personal incomes and continued migration of families to the suburbs all pointed to an expanding automobile market.

He did not break down next year's spending plans, other than to indicate the overseas segment would amount to about half a two-year plan to invest $500 million more in GM overseas assets already standing at $1.35 billion in 19 countries. GM overseas investment was about $350 million in 1949.

Archbishop Of Canterbury Plans To Visit Pope John

LONDON (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury will visit Pope John XXIII at the Vatison next month. It will be the first such meeting since the Church of England split from Rome four centuries ago.

Announcement of the forthcoming visit was issued Tuesday—All Saints Day—by Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury and spiritual leader of the Church of England. His meeting with the head of the Roman Catholic Church is planned during a stopover in Rome Dec. 1-3 on the way home from a Middle Eastern tour.

The announcement from the 73-year-old archbishop's residence, Lambeth Palace, described the Vatican meeting as "a visit of courtesy."

Although the announcement did not mention it, one likely topic of conversation is the ecumenical council called by the Pope.

Joy Reigns; Boy Is Born

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iranians rejoiced Monday at the birth of a crown prince so lustily that police had to use fire hoses to control Tehran street crowds.

A robust, dark-haired son weighing 8 pounds 11 ounces was born to Queen Farah Diba, the third wife of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi. Divorce had ended two previous marriages of the shah, the monarch since 1941, which failed to provide a heir to the Peacock Throne.

Iran's Moslem people cheered and shouted: "It's a boy! God is great."

Sewell Avery, Ward Aide, Is Dead

CHICAGO (AP)—Sewell Lee Avery, 86, a big businessman who never backed away from a fos—including the U.S. Army—died Monday.

His daughter, Mrs. Roger Follansbee, said Avery, ill for months, died in his home.

Avery, former Montgomery Ward & Co. chairman, was hospitalized in May 1959 when surgeons removed a malignant tumor in his colon.

Avery headed the management of Montgomery Ward & Co. from 1931 to 1955.

His 24-year tenure frequently was enlivened by verbal bouts with stockholders, labor unions, and others who challenged his set way of running his huge merchandising organization.

His most spectacular battles pitted him against the federal government in 1944 and against Louis E. Wolfson in 1955.

Nixon Receives Grit Backing

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — The Grit, nationally distributed weekly newspaper published here, has given its editorial backing to Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican candidate for president.

In an editorial appearing in its current editions, the newspaper said "Nixon is far better qualified to deal with the problems that will come up during the next four years" than is Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic candidate.

The Grit backed President Eisenhower's candidacy when he ran against Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson in 1952 and 1956.

Dear Abby

Sitting On A Powder Keg

Dear Abby: I am a college student. Last year I met a student who attends another college. We were strongly attracted to each other. I sent him my picture, signed "Love forever." He came to see me many times. We got very serious and then I heard that he had been married all along. He denied it. When I got proof he admitted he was married and the father of a little boy. I told him it was hopeless for us but he insisted he loved me and things could be worked out. Now his wife knows about us because he confessed everything. If she names me in her divorce suit my reputation will be ruined because we went beyond kissing. What should I do?

RUINED

Dear Ruined: All you can do is wait. If you are involved in the divorce, you will need a lawyer to represent you. In the meantime, talk to the chaplain at your college. He will give you the moral support you need.

Dear Abby: Some friends of ours invited us to their daughter's wedding in 1957. We sent the bride a very lovely wedding gift. In 1958 she had a baby, which they announced with those little printed "hints" (this also burns me up) and I had to send a gift. In 1959 they got a divorce. Now get this — last week this girl's parents sent out announcements of their daughter's marriage to another man. Do we have to send another wedding gift?

BURNED UP

Dear Burned: No one HAS to send a gift for any occasion. Rich gifts wax cold when giver is burned up.

Dear Abby: I am going with a man who wants to marry me. I think I love him but he does something which I neither love nor understand. He likes to hunt deer and shoot wild birds. I know lots of men hunt and no one thinks it is cruel, but I cannot marry a man who will take a gun and kill defenseless birds and animals just for the sport of it. Maybe if I were starving to death I would kill in order to eat, BUT I can't see any excuse for it today. When I told him I would marry him if he gave up hunting, he laughed in my face. Was I so foolish?

SOFTHEARTED

Dear Soft-hearted: You were not foolish. If you feel that way, don't marry him.

Dear Abby: I know it is your job to give advice, not mine, but I hope you will print my story for all teen-agers who are in a hurryto get married. I fell in love with Tom when I was 15. He was 18. I fought with my family because I wanted to quit school and get married. He wanted to go to trade school, but I begged him to take any kind of job so we could get married. We ran off and got married and broke our parents' hearts. Tom wasn't ready to settle down so we started to fuss at each other. I got pregnant. He couldn't stand my whining so he left me. Now he wants a divorce because he says he missed out on his youth and it was my fault. He is right. I still love him, but his love for me has turned to hate.

Please, girls, stay home and finish school and let the guys grow up before you start nagging for marriage. I am 16 years old, pregnant, and will be a divorcee in five months.

"A 16-YEAR-OLD HAS BEEN"

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. She answers all letters.

Taft Lists Growing Nixon-Lodge Sentiment

By Bobby Westbrook
Daily Record Writer

A GROWING sentiment for Nixon and Lodge in both Ohio and Pennsylvania and a prediction that the Republican ticket would carry both states was reported at the Republican rally last night at the American Legion in East Stroudsburg by Robert Taft, grandson of President William Howard Taft.

Taft, himself running for state senator in Ohio, took time out from his own campaigning to speak at the local rally, flying in from Cincinnati through murky skies. In sharp contrast to the rainy streets, the crowd found in the auditorium some unexpected political pageantry.

Hostesses, from the volunteers who staff the party headquarters, wearing white Nixon-Lodge skimmers and red, white and blue sashes, presented the audience with campaign hats, balloons, and stickers, adding color to the crowd.

However, the mood sobered as the speakers hammered home the issues dividing the candidates.

Which Man

"Which man, which party will make the kind of decisions necessary in the critical times ahead? That is the question each voter must answer next week," Taft said, urging that each man answer that question not as a member of any group in age, church affiliation or economic status but as a citizen concerned how the whole country could best be served.

Taft left no doubt as to what his own convictions, hammering home issues debated in campaign speeches and television debates; national security, economic growth, and the preservation of individual liberties.

He compared the "experience, judgment and integrity" of the records of Nixon and Lodge with the Kennedy's rashness, his difference with his own running mate, his lack of prestige in his own party, and emphasis on trying to bring "prosperity by government edict," with consequent loss of individual liberty, initiative and judgment.

State Senator William Z. Scott, himself not up for election, spoke on behalf of what he termed the "forgotten candidates:" Charles Smith, State Treasurer, and Robert Kent, State auditor, testifying that they had done a good job in their "watch dog capacity" in the state; and for Judge Blair Gunther, whom he termed "an outstanding jurist."

Also Endorsed

Scott also endorsed Woodrow Horn, candidate for U.S. Representative, as a "young man with new ideas" and Hanford Cleveland, candidate for State Representative, whom he said was needed as "a brake on the wild spending of the Lawrence administration."

Horn and Cleveland also spoke for themselves.

"This district needs a full-time Congressman," Horn said, charging that the incumbent, Francis Walter had a 37 percent absentee record, voting in only 30 out of the last 80 major legislative matters, many of them of concern to the people of his district.

"My number 1 action will be the Delaware Valley Dam System," he said, pointing to the rewards in conservation, flood control and industrial development of the area. He called Walter's delay in promoting the project, first offered in 1932, as "inexcusable."

Horn also promised to assign an administrative assistant who would live in the area and form a closer link between the individuals and the national administration and to serve as an ambassador to the area in interesting new industry in settling here.

Hanford L. Cleveland also promised to provide a closer contact and personal service between the people of the county and the "bureaucratic government" now in power in the state. He re-iterated his promise:

"Shall never vote for a state income tax or a wage tax," and added:

"I favor priority for disabled veterans in Civil Service and will support amendments to make the state law read the same as the Federal law."

Actually there were 17 other speakers at the rally which opened with a preview of the one-minute tape recordings made by local housewives, lawyers, farmers, and even a musician who will present his message in jingles to be broadcast this coming week.

Parke Unangst, county chairman, presided at the meeting, which was opened and closed with prayer by Rev. William F. Wunder. Montgomery F. Crowe introduced the speakers.

Barrett Pleas For Support For Chest

BARRETT — An appeal for support of the Barrett Division of the Monroe County Community Chest was sounded yesterday by John Vaneria, captain of the division.

In a statement addressed to "friends and neighbors in Barrett Township," Vaneria said the appeal was being made "to assure complete success in meeting our quota." He added:

May Mail

"If you have not been contacted by a solicitor and wish to make your pledge or contribution, you may do so by mailing it to me at this address: John Vaneria, Captain, Barrett Division, Community Chest, RD 1, Box 108-A, Cresco, Pa.

"A pledge sticker emblem and receipt will be returned by mail."

AL SCHAFFER, co-chairman of the industrial division of the 1960 Community Chest fund campaign, whose division is responsible for the largest single quota $23,528 in the current campagn for $86,944 for the 12 member agencies of the Chest.

Stroudsburg Man To Head Presbytery

SNYDERSVILLE — Thomas J. Willis of Stroudsburg was elected president of the Lehigh Presbytery Council, United Presbyterian Men, at a meeting recently in Brainerd's Presbyterian Center.

Others elected were Elam Gray, Delaware Water Gap, Secretary; and B. W. Seigfried, Bethlehem, executive vice president.

Gordon L. Coy, Stroudsburg, northeast area vice president; Joseph Policelli, Wind Gap, eastern area vice president; Walter McClellan, Freeland, northwest area vice president; William Hartman, Allentown, southwest area vice president; and Douglas Potts, Pottsville, western area vice president.

Commander J. R. Craig, USN (Ret.) of Bethlehem was the main speaker and his theme was, "The Other Side of the Coin."

Halloween Parade Reset Tomorrow

INCLEMENT weather yesterday caused the postponement of the annual Halloween parade until Wednesday at 7 p.m.

A change in the formation schedule has been made. The floats will form on Monroe St. between Seventh and Sixth Sts.; costumed marchers will form on Seventh St. from Main to Monroe St.; and the bands and other marching units will form on Seventh St. between Monroe and Sarah.

The line of march will enter Main Street at Eighth Street, Stroudsburg and continue on the original line of march.

Veteran Concert Artists To Appear Here Wednesday

VETERANS of 17 years as concert artists, having played before 2,000 audiences all over the world, Benno and Sylvia Rabinoff, violin-piano duo, will open the 1960-61 Pocono Community Concerts season on Wednesday night in the East Stroudsburg State College Auditorium. The concert will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Rabinoff, born in 1908 in New York's lower east side, of Russian-American parents, made his debut as a violinist at the age of 19. However, performances of another kind were competing with Benno's musical talents. While attending Boys High in Brooklyn he became one of its outstanding athletes. He was a crack quarterback, and a star sprinter on the track team, running the 100 yard dash in under 10 seconds.

Famous Teacher

His mother encouraged him to study violin, and among his teachers was the famous Leopold Auer, teacher of many famous concert violinists. Today, Rabinoff owns a $40,000 Guarnarius violin, a priceless bow collection, and the piece de resistance is the $100,000 Stradivarius, on which Fritz Kreisler played his last recital, and which Rabinoff will play in the Wednesday evening recital.

His equally talented wife, Sylvia, at the age of 20, made her debut in Paris, having studied with Paderewski and Rudolph Serkin. She is not only a most competent pianist, but a composer of instrumental solos, chamber music, and an opera for children.

A comment from the San Antonio Express," Benno and Sylvia Rabinoff, a married pair of sterling musicians who cooperate on the violin and piano respectively, won the applause and admiration of a large, new audience," may well sum up the feelings of Wednesday night's audience.

Commissioners Receive Liquid Fuels Tax Audit

THE AUDIT for the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund from the office of the Auditor General's office was read at the board meeting yesterday. The audit covered a two-year period, from 1958 to 1959.

The commissioners received for the year of 1958, $220,315.66 and $151,723.31 for 1959. The receipts for both years plus the balance for the two years, less expenditures, left a balance of $102,873.62 for 1959.

The audit showed that all monies received were deposited and maintained in a special fund, designated as the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund, and that no other monies were deposited and comingled.

The report stated, "We have examined the books of accounts and records as they pertain to the fiscal operations of the Commissioners of Monroe County, with respect to their administration of the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund account for the two yearly periods.

"We have reviewed their system of internal control and accounting procedures and found them to be in perfect order."

Distributed

The money for this fund shows that one-half cent of the permanent tax of three cents per gallon on liquid fuels shall be distributed to the counties of the Commonwealth to be used for construction, reconstruction, maintenance and repair of roads, highways or bridges.

In addition, the commissioners may make grants to the political subdivisions within their respective counties for the purpose of financing, in whole or in part, the improvement and maintenance of highways and bridges, including property damages.

In other action, Middle Smithfield Township was given $5,681.50 in County Aid.

Merit Badge Seminar On Saturday

THE second merit badge counselors' seminar will be held rain or shine on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 5, at the Easton Jr.-Sr. High School on Northampton Street, Easton.

According to Dr. Nathan G. Meyer, coordinator of the seminar, the following Monroe County men will serve as resource persons for the fifteen buzz sessions: Jerry Blakeslee, Michael Jacabella, Percy Marvin, Wally Butz, Frank Varney and Glenn Fisher.

Other resource persons from the other scouting districts of the Delaware Valley area Council are: LeRoy Fritts, Richard Shelling, Peter Mueller, Philip March, Calvin Williams, Herman Hahn, Edward Lomasson, Asher Koehler, William Turner, Jules Falcone, Carl Everett, William Myers, Robert Porter, George Stewart, William Miller, Carl Hill, Irving Lehrer, and Charles Cole.

Leaders and others who have not made dinner reservations should do so today. Report for dinner on Saturday, Nov. 5 at 12:45 p.m. at the cafeteria at the Easton Jr.-Sr. High School.

Assistance Topic At Churches Meet

PLANS FOR A large-scale program of assistance to areas of acute human need were discussed during the Division of Inter-Church Aid and Service to Refugees of the World Council of Churches meeting yesterday at Buck Hill Falls.

The 12-member committee includes inter-church aid officials from Asia, Europe and the United States. It is the first meeting of the group to be held in the United States since the present committee was set up in 1954. The group meets quarterly to administer a world-wide program of aid to churches and people in need.

Daily Record Supporting Van Yetter For Reelection

One week from today, Monroe County voters will go to the polls and elect their representative in the Pennsylvania General Assembly.

They will make their choice between the incumbent, Rep. Van D. Yetter, Democrat, and the challenger, Hanford L. Cleveland, Republican.

Mr. Yetter has served two terms in the Legislature — terms that were interrupted by the one two-year term served by Mr. Cleveland.

As a member of the majority party of the House, Mr. Yetter was able to accomplish much in the matter of legislation during his four years in office.

His seniority has paved the way for his appointment to a number of important standing committees: Highways Townships, Boroughs, Game, Fish and Agriculture, and several special committees.

It is this experience and seniority in Harrisburg which convinces us that the interests of Monroe County would be served best by the reelection of Mr. Yetter.

Our support of the incumbent assemblyman is further enhanced when the coming election is viewed from the standpoint of who has done the most for Monroe County during his service in Harrisburg. Here, again, we must side with Mr. Yetter.

During his two terms, Rep. Yetter sponsored or co-sponsored a total of 46 bills in the House. Of these, 25 passed both House and Senate and were signed into law.

His name was on four measures providing the money and making it possible for the state to clear the streams, build flood control dikes and rebuild the roads, streets and bridges that were damaged by the 1955 flood.

Other bills with which he was associated include those making an appropriation to the Department of Commerce for the promotion of Pennsylvania (thus creating more business for Pocono Mountains resorts); allowing New Jersey and Pennsylvania to cooperate in building dams on the Delaware River; eliminating the requirement of waiting a week for unemployment benefits when unemployment resulted from a flood or other disaster, and authorizing abatement of real estate tax if property was destroyed or damaged by the 1955 flood.

Among the Yetter-sponsored bills approved by the 1959-60 session of the Legislature were those requiring the Highway Department to erect signs notifying motorists of the penalty for throwing trash or rubbish along roads; clarifying enforcement of the sales and use tax and placing the burden of proof on the Department of Revenue; requiring the Highway Department to issue permits for movement of oversize and overweight equipment at county offices of the department, and an emergency appropriation to the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority. This money is used to bring new industry into the state and to help small firms expand and increase local employment.

Many of the measures he sponsored or co-sponsored have brought great benefit to Monroe County and its people. To ignore such service to the constituents he represents would be inflicting a major injustice upon Rep. Yetter.

Surely, Mr. Cleveland's record of service to Monroe County did not measure up to either of the two terms served by Mr. Yetter.

In fact, Mr. Cleveland himself gave evidence of his desire to step out of politics when he accepted a pension for the term he was in office. In other words, he actually retired himself when he accepted the pension benefits.

These, then, are the factors which have shaped our decision to endorse Rep. Yetter. We urge all voters in the county to support his candidacy at the Nov. 8 election.

The second in a series of editorials giving our reasons for endorsing certain candidates for office will appear tomorrow. It deals with the U.S. House of Representatives.

Issues In Campaign—IV

Education Conflict

BY CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

BOTH Democratic Presidential nominee John F. Kennedy and Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon have laid out their propsals for a comprehensive, kindergarten-to-graduate - school - and - then - some program of federal aid to education.

Both candidates agree that the Federal Government should aid construction of public primary and secondary schools and college dormitories and classrooms; increase the number of Government college scholarships and make post-graduate study available to more people; expand current federal participation in vocational training, adult education and library services. Details of these programs have not been given, but few irreconcilable variations are apparent.

But the candidates disagree sharply on whether the Federal Government should provide funds for the express purpose of raising public school teachers' salaries. Nixon says it shouldn't, for fear of federal control over teachers, but that his program would indirectly result in a boost in teachers' pay; Kennedy says it should, rejecting the federal control argument, and that Nixon's program would not have the effect the Vice President claims.

The Issue: How can the Federal Government most effectively help close the classroom gap and teacher shortage that has developed since World War II?

The secondary theme: What kinds of guarantees are needed to preclude the accompaniment with federal aid of heavy federal interference with the teaching process?

Perhaps the most significant but overlooked factor in all this is the assumption and emphatic argument by both candidates that the Federal Government must greatly increase its contribution to local educational activities. Though opposition to any kind of federal aid to education remains among Congressmen of both parties, neither candidate even acknowledges this once prevailing but ever diminishing point of view.

Kennedy's Position

Kennedy proposes that federal grants be given to the states, to be used as the states see fit for school construction and/or teachers' salary expenses. In his first TV debate with Nixon, Kennedy Sept. 27 said: "I don't want the Federal Government paying teachers' salaries directly, but if the money will go to the states and the states can then determine whether it shall go for school construction or for teachers' salaries, in my opinion you protect the local authority over the school boards, and the school committees."

The Federal Government already is supporting teachers' salaries under a program passed by Congress in 1950 (PL 874) giving federal aid for operating schools in districts in "federally impacted areas" — areas where schools are overcrowded or deprived of taxable lands because of the presence of military bases, Indian reservations, Government contractors, etc. In 1959, about 4,200 school districts received over $150 million in such aid. The program affected approximately one-fourth of the Nation's school children.

The money is given to the school districts, which then use it as needed. Laws governing the program prohibit any federal control over curriculums or selection of teachers. The U.S. Office of Education estimates that 60-65 percent of the funds spent under PL 874 have paid teachers' salaries; there have been no complaints of federal control.

Democrats argue that the Vice President's contention that his program would "release" money for teachers' salaries is "misleading." Kennedy spokesmen have argued that in many states the granting of federal funds for classroom construction, which must be matched by state funds (always a requirement in aid to education bills), simply attracts state money away from teachers' salaries into construction and that in some states, particularly those that have a declining population, the need for classrooms is much less than that for teachers.

As for Nixon's construction program offering federal money to help pay off the costs of construction bonds ("debt service"), Democrats point out that 18 states have laws which would prevent extra money from going for salaries even if the Government assumed part of the debt incurred from building schools.

A debt service program sponsored by the Administration was branded a "banker's bill" by Democrats this year and was rejected in the Senate by a 25-61 vote and in the House by a voice vote.

Nixon's Position

The Vice President has repeatedly asserted that any program directly providing for federal funds to be used to supplement teachers' salaries would lead to federal control of teachers and their curriculums.

In the Sept. 27 TV debate Nixon said: "When the Federal Government gets the power to pay teachers, inevitably, in my opinion, it will acquire the power to set standards and to tell the teachers what to teach . . . My objection here is not the cost in dollars, my objection here is the potential cost in controls and eventual freedom for the American people by giving the Federal Government power over education, and that is the greatest power a government can have."

To the argument that a Federal Government could as easily set curriculum standards for districts accepting construction aid as for those accepting teacher-salary aid, Nixon answered on a Sept. 11 TV appearance:

"When we give money for buildings, even here we say we're not going to have standards. But let's assume we did have standards, the classrooms would have to be a certain size. That's one thing. But when you set standards for teaching, what they can teach, what subjects can be taught, what they have to meet, this is an altogether different thing. We're talking in the one instance about control of the mind. We're talking in the other instance of control of matter and there's a very great difference."

Throughout Nixon's campaign, he has warned against "rigid uniformity imposed by dictation from Washington" and "federal control" as the inevitable outgrowth of federal aid to teachers' salaries. He has particularly emphasized this in speeches in the South, tying it to his general theme that the Democrats intend to further seize the powers of the states and place them in Washington.

Nixon concludes, therefore, that his program to aid school construction would result in a boost to teachers' salaries indirectly, by freeing funds which would then be used for the salaries. Such an indirect approach, he said in his position paper on education, would raise the salaries "without menacing the invaluable freedom of our schools by inhibitive federal control."

The Pennsylvania Story

Kent Speaks

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The four candidates for Pennsylvania's two fiscal offices—State Auditor General and State Treasurer—this week are serving as guest columnists for Mason Denison. With the completion of this week's guest writings every candidate for statewide office this year—plus the two presidential candidates—at one time or another during the campaign will have had the opportunity of expressing their unabridged viewpoints in this newspaper and nearly 40 other daily newspapers throughout the state in which "The Pennsylvania Story" is syndicated.)

By Robert F. Kent
Republican Candidate for Auditor General

Why an Auditor General for Pennsylvania?

The prime reason for creation of the office of Auditor General as a Constitutional official was to make him directly responsible to the people of the state, rather than to any Governor or to any political party.

Every qualified voter has the power, through his ballot, to approve the person of his choice at the polls.

It should be of the utmost importance therefore, that this year, especially, the Auditor General be elected from the party of the opposite political affiliation of the incumbent majority administering the greater portion of the state's business.

The state's Fiscal Code imposes upon the Auditor General "the duty of making all audits which may be necessary in connection with the administration of the financial affairs of the State Government."

He must make at least one audit each year of the financial affairs of "every department, board and commission of the executive branch" (those under the Governor).

Further, all appropriation acts adopted by the Legislature are carefully studied by the Auditor General for it is his duty to determine what claims or requisitions processed by the governmental agencies "may be necessary, and whether the proposed expenditure is legal."

It is not my intention here to indicate that any state official may be circumventing any legal requirements or restrictions in the operation of his duties.

It is human nature to fall into a weak temptation to take an easy way out of a difficult problem. Often the temptation can be greased by political expediency— or plain inefficiency.

Here is the basic reason for an Auditor General being elected by the people — rather than appointed by a higher authority. As a Constitutional officer of the State Government with his duties defined by the Constitution, he is not relegated to the unhappy position of following a policy laid down by one man or a political group.

He can show no favors when it concerns the financial or fiscal affairs of the Commonwealth. He is the direct representative of the taxpayer — the public — and as such is often called the "Watchman of the Treasury."

At a time when the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is dealing in billions of dollars, it is essential that this state's Auditor General be experienced in the legislative, the legal and fiscal affairs of the state.

It is of prime importance, also, that Pennsylvania has an Auditor General who believes in strict efficiency and honesty in accounting for pennies as well as millions of dollars, and one who will not tolerate favoritism in the conduct of the affairs of that office.

Fair but fearless audits of all accounts between the Commonwealth, through any administrative agency, and any person, is an absolute necessity.

And at the risk of being redundant, I repeat that an Auditor General of a political party other than that of the present Governor's party is most desirable for greatest protection and inspection of the financial affairs of the taxpayer's property — the Commonwealth.

This I believe, and to this I am pledged in my current candidacy to become Pennsylvania's next Auditor General.

Off The Record

By Robert Clark, City Editor

Art Frantz, the jack-of-all-trades at St. Matthew's church, East Stroudsburg, tells the story of a group of hunters who invaded the area when he was game warden.

It seems Frantz questioned the eight hunters and asked them if they had a "roster" of their names. One of the men remarked, we came in a sedan not a roster (roadster)."

Art said he didn't have the heart to question them any further after that return quote.

Woody Slutter, the personable super service salesman in Stroudsburg, has the political bug running in his veins these days.

However, the happy go lucky coffee expert would like to be voting for Hal H. Harris next week.

Woody is one of Hal's chief boosters and cites the ex-burgess' record when raving about his friend.

We thought we had heard them all but this one tops the latest.

Everyone knows Walter Peeney, the Stroudsburg petroleum king. Well Walt wanted to know that even it could happen to him.

You guessed it. Peeney ran out of gas on West Main St. the other day.

Ed Mesko, the glass man from East Stroudsburg, sees bowling as the greatest sport for a man with a bulging waistline and past the 35-year mark.

However Ed doesn't claim to be in this category. His average on the lanes though might make someone question his youth and the amount of adipose tissues he lugs around.

Inside You And Yours

Gout In Kidneys

"Come off it, Doc! This is 1960!

"You know—sports cars, hi-fi, Ivy League suits.

"Who ever heard of gout today?"

Lots of people! That streamlined calendar won't shield you from old - fashioned gout if you've inherited the tendency.

And gout prefers masculine company almost all the time.

Gout is actually a kidney disease that starts in the liver. Here, protein building blocks are digested into many chemicals, including one called uric acid. Kidney cells normally push this uric acid out before too much accumulates to cause trouble.

When these cells slow down, uric acid collects like a gang of delinquents with no policeman to urge them on. Soon there's enough to gang up on you.

For weeks, Stan had raced around in his smooth - running sports car, never knowing that sluggish kidney cells would put it in the garage for days.

Sudden Symptoms

Feverish chills woke him one night. His right knee looked like a boiled lobster that needed plastic surgery — and felt worse.

Uric acid had irritated the joint into red-hot inflammation. Doctors knew he had gout when his blood showed a uric acid reading of nine — over six and seven spells trouble.

But uric acid readings sometimes fool the best doctors. Ordinary (rheumatoid) arthritis can raise the level to seven or eight.

Old-fashioned colchicine pills can restore that extra push the kidneys need to pour out uric acid. Stan passed the final test for gout when colchicine alone cooled down his hot knee and feverish brow.

Cortisone and other modern drugs might have helped Stan, but not his doctors. These medicines relieve all kinds of arthritis; only colchicine can clear up any uric acid confusion.

Dams Back Acid

Aspirin may magnify gouty agony. The usual couple of pills dam back uric acid into the system.

Grocery stores sell other gout - magnifiers in tins. One sardine turns into a whale of a lot of uric acid when the kidneys, aren't pushing it. Organs like kidneys and liver also have gout - danger written all over them.

A few years ago, Stan could have counted on gout returning as regularly as a sports car circling the track. Repeated collisions with gout smash joints until they're in no shape to work. Uric acid eventually eats right through everything.

Useful Drugs

But today new drugs (like probenecid) can help slow kidneys keep pace with uric acid production.

For gout sufferers doctors also write giant prescriptions that call for half a gallon of water daily. As excess uric acid pours through the kidneys, tiny crystals may damage delicate cells and build pebble - like stones. Water can usually dissolve away all this danger.

The water's important. You can always bandage and cushion a big toe or sore knee. But what kind of a dressing can you put on a gouty kidney?!

The Allen-Scott Report

Graham, Nixon's Friend

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — Evangelist Billy Graham is publicly declaring for Vice President Nixon later this week.

This will be the first time Graham has injected himself into a presidential race.

A close friend of the Republican standard-bearer, Graham will explain he is voting for him on personal grounds.

Sen. John Kennedy was notified of this by Graham some weeks ago.

In a letter to the Democratic standard-bearer, the evangelist wrote he had determined to back Nixon because of personal friendship.

Graham stressed that religion had nothing to do with this decision, and that he did not intend to raise the religious issue during the campaign. The evangelist also assured Kennedy that if he is elected he will support him.

During Graham's crusade in Washington last June, he and his wife were guests at the Vice President's home several times. The evangelist and Nixon also had a number of long conferences in the latter's Capitol office during this two-week period. On two occasions, Graham and his wife occupied front seats reserved for the Vice President in the Senate visitors' gallery.

Counter Attack — The acrid election wrangling over those unpublished U. S. Information Agency foreign "prestige" surveys may lead to a spectacular by-product — the official release of the State Department's long-secret files on the historic Yalta and Posdam conferences.

Vice President Nixon has discussed this with Secretary Herter in connection with publishing the USIA's "confidenial" prestige reports.

Sen. Kennedy and other Democratic campaigners are stentoriously demanding these studies be disclosed. Nixon has proposed to Herter this be done — simultaneously with the publication of the Yalta and Potsdam papers.

Under Nixon's plan, he would send Herter a telegram urging this, and then make that known in a statement or speech.

Former National Chairman Leonard Hall, Nixon's personal campaign manager, is credited with strongly advocating this strategy. As a member of Congress, Hall hotly denounced the Yalta and Potsdam conferences as "sell-outs."

Portions of the official files on the two parleys have been published at various times since World War II. But although Republican leaders have been highly critical of the two meetings, in which the late Josef Stalin participated, the Eisenhower Administration has never released the official records.

One explanation has been that this cannot be done without the consent of the other participating countries.

Heady Stuff—Reason for those cocky Democratic claims that Pennsylvania's 32 electoral votes are now definitely in Senator Kennedy's column is an extraordinary private prediction made by Rep. William Green, the bustling leader of Philadelphia's powerful organization.

During Kennedy's rousing electioneering in this area, Green confidently assured him he will carry it by "more than 300,000."

"I realize that sounds astounding," said Green, "but I mean it, and that is what is going to happen. You are going to carry Philadelphia by a much bigger majority than Franklin Roosevelt did in 1936, when he won here by 208,000. All our polls and checks show that. It's phenomenal, but we're absolutely certain of it."

The Democratic standard-bearer was also told he must sweep Philadelphia by at least 185,000 to ensure his carrying the state.

The Philadelphia leaders estimated Kennedy's state-wide margin at 80,000.

President Eisenhower, won Pennsylvania in 1956 by 603,000. But Stevenson carried Philadelphia by a small edge. In 1952, the President took the city by around 60,000.

Politicians — President Eisenhower has invited Brazil's President-elect Janio Quadros to come to Washington before taking office in January. If he agrees to that, it may be announced before the Nov. 8 election. Quadros already has accepted invitations to visit Argentina and Uruguay before his inauguration.

South Dakota's 18,000 Sioux Indians may determine the outcome of the neck-and-neck race between Senator Karl Mundt and his Democratic rival, Rep. George McGovern. The latest GOP poll shows Mundt leading 50.9 to 49.1 percent; a Democratic poll gives the two candidates 49 percent each, with two percent undecided. These polls did not include the Sioux, a majority of whom are on two reservations. As a result, they could decide this photo-finish senatorial battle.

Former Secreatry of Sate Dean Acheson is finally getting into the election contest — in a local way. He is making speeches for the Democratic ticket in Maryland, where he has a country estate. Acheson supported Senator Symington, for the presidential nomination, and has been quiescent until these final days of the campaign.

Treasury Secretary Anderson is telling friends he has already accepted an important business position after he leaves office with the Eisenhower Administration in January. Anderson is saying he will not continue in the cabinet even if asked to do so.

Just Between Us — —

"Tiger at the Crossing" sounds like the title of a jungle film, but that's what really happened. Solemnly guarding the crossing at noon at the corner of Prospect and Ridgeway Sts. was a liger, complete with mask and a yellow slicker.

I was going to add "in broad daylight" but that was the darkest daylight for many a day, and a shame it was, too. Bound for schoolroom parties, the ghosts were dragging their ectoplasm; the starry crowns on the fairy queens were wilting in the dampness; and many a little devil had mud on the end of his dangling tail.

The only ones who stayed in character were the miniature football players who looked as if they'd just been through a pretty muddy scrimmage, as no doubt they had.

Well, a rainy Halloween is hard on the kids, but even harder on their parents. Badgered mothers were calling up in droves to make certain sure that the parade had been called off for tonight—and then, I presume, wearily making up the tail section of the impromptu neighborhood parade Halloweening through the puddles.

Well, let's hope for a warm bright night for Wednesday so everybody can get Halloween out of the way before Thanksgiving. I always feel a little crowded on the first of the month when Trudy Hellmann brings in the Clearing House Calendar.

A whole month of such earnest and worthy endeavor makes me tired just thinking about it. Or maybe it was just the weather that was making everybody yawn yesterday. .....

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Robert Moore
(Lawrence Studio)

Miss Betty Lou Owens Bride Of Gerald Moore

Miss Betty Lou Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Owens of East Stroudsburg R.D. 2, became the bride of Gerald Robert Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Moore of Beach Lake, on October 15 at 11:30 a.m. at St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church, East Stroudsburg.

Rev. Edward T. Sullivan performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white chrysanthemums. The bridal pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown in chiffon taffeta featuring a Chantilly lace neckline highlighted in iridescent sequins and pearls, and long sleeves pointed at the wrists. The empire bodice featured a waistline bow accenting a billowing skirt which extended into a aisle-width train. Her veil of the imported silk illusion, was designed in a queen crown embellished with pearls and brilliant. She carrie da cascade bouquet featuring a white orchid surrounded with pompons.

Mrs. Ruth Ames of Mosc , cousin of the bride, as matron of honor wore a street-length, fern green gown in velvet and satin. She wore a matching clutch crown of velvet leaves and organza petals, and carried a cascade bouquet of gold chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Parker, of Stroudsburg, RD 5, and Mrs. Janet Orr of Beach Lake, sister of the groom. They wore honey gold gowns in velvet and satin and matching clutch crowns, and carried bronze chrysanthemums.

The flower girl, Kathy Orr, niece of the bride-groom, wore a floor-length gown of nile green silk organza with a matching headpiece and carried a cascade bouquet of bronze and gold mums and pompons.

William Lesh Jr. of Moscow, cousin of the bride, was best man. The ushers were Donald Orr of Beach Lake and Edwin Nelson of Kings Park, N. Y.

The bride's mother wore moss green lace dress with matching hat and a corsage of pink roses. The bride-groom's mother wore a winter-green and beige lace dress with brown accessories and corsage of yellow roses.

The reception for about 140 guests was held at the Gap View Inn. The bridal table was decorated with green ferns and white chrysanthemums. Music for dinner and dancing was furnished by Tommy Cullens' orchestra.

For traveling by jet-airliner to Nassau, the bride wore a deep purple suit with matching hat, black accessories, and an orchid corsage.

The bride was graduated from East Stroudsburg High School. Previous to her marriage, she was employed by the Bell Telephone Co. of Pa., and now has been transferred to the Hurtington office of the Bell Telephone Co., N. Y.

Mr. Moore was graduated from Narrowsburg High School, Narrowsburg, N. Y. After serving four years with the U. S. Air Force, he has been employed as aircraft mechanic for Pan-American Airlines at Idlewild International Airport.

The couple are now making their home at 23 Central St., Green Lawn, Long Island, N. Y.

Faith Coslett Is Baptized

Faith Christine Coslett, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Coslett, of Stroudsburg RD 5, was baptized on Sunday October 23, in Christ Episcopal Church, Stroudsburg. Rev. Charles A. Park officiated. Godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Marion G. Denton of Auburndale, Fla.

Faith wore the same christening dress which was worn by her mother.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Teeter, of 21 Collins St., Stroudsburg, and Mr. and Mrs. George Coslett, 10 Pettibone St., Scranton.

Holiday Dance For Collegians

The Christmas holidays will again be something to look forward to for college-age students of the area according to plans to repeat the Holiday Dance with a midnight buffet.

Last year about 150 young people representing more than 40 colleges attended the party sponsored by a group of parents.

Mrs. William Ashley Anderson and Mrs. J. S. Swartley are again serving as chairmen of the volunteer committee.

The date has been set for Friday, December 30, at the Penn-Stroud Hotel with an orchestra, midnight buffet, and special surprise features. The committee emphasized that the dance is open to all college-age students, with or without dates.

In order to keep the price of the tickets within student budgets, the committee is calling other parents inviting them to be patrons for the party. The committee includes Mrs. Eugene Martin, Mrs. Edward Driebe, Mrs. Frank L. Patterson, Mrs. Edward Williams, Mrs. Robert Schell, Mrs. Evan Reese, Mrs. J. L. Cohen and Mrs. Elwood Hintze.

Mrs. William C. Schmauder
(Lens Art)

Carol Ann Zoldy Bride Of William C. Schmauder

Wind Gap. Miss Carol Ann Zoldy, daughter of Mrs. George R. Shoemaker of Pen Argyl RD 1 and the late Eugene G. Zoldy, became the bride of William C. Schmauder, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schmauder of East Third St., Wind Gap, on Saturday afternoon at 3 in the First Methodist Church, Wind Gap.

Rev. Gerald H. Miller of Tannersville performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Carl Simms of Wind Gap.

Given in marriage by her uncle, William E. Houghton, West Babylon, N.Y., the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace and bouquet taffeta, fashioned with a sabrina neckline, long pointed sleeves and a triple bustle. The bouffant skirt ended in a chapel train. Her matching crown held a fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a white Bible with a cascade of Phalaenopsis orchids, ivy and stephanotis.

Miss Estelle Smith of Wind Gap as maid of honor wore a floor-length gown of capucine satin peau with matching headpiece and carried a crescent bouquet of yellow and bronze pompons, wood roses, wheat and fall foliage.

The bridesmaid, Miss Janice Smith of Wind Gap wore a similar gown of mint green satin peau with matching headpiece and carried a crescent bouquet of bronze pompons, wood roses, wheat and fall foliage.

Miss Georganne Shoemaker, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and wore mint green similar to the bridesmaids.

Debra Chamberline, niece of the bridegroom of Easton wore a floor length gown of capucine satin peau with matching headpiece and carried a French basket of yellow and bronze pompons, wheat and fall foliage.

Kermit Chamberlin of Easton was his brother's best man. Ushers were Archie M. Dungey and Brian L. Dungay of Wind Gap, uncle and cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Verna Shook was organist and Mrs. Myrtle Rabenold soloist.

A reception was held in the social rooms of the church.

After a wedding trip to Canada they will reside at 225 A Broadway, Wind Gap.

They are both graduates of Pen Argyl Area Joint High School.

The bride attended Churchman Business College and is employed as a bookkeeper at Wind Gap Coal & Lumber Co. Mr. Schmauder is employed by Willard A. Keller, general contractor.

Native Of Java To Speak After Church Supper

Miss Maria Brusse will be the speaker at the Mid-week Service at the First Presbyterian Church of Stroudsburg on Wednesday at 7:15 p.m. She will tell of the work of the pioneer missionary, Johannes von der Steur, in Magelang, Java. It was in the home established by this missionary that Maria, a Dutch-Indonesian born in Sumatra, was brought up, and it that home that she later was headmistress of the small children's department. For three years she owned her own dressmaking business in Surabaya, but her normal work is as secretary and stenographer.

In 1946 Miss Brusse was interned for six months in Indonesia as a Dutch citizen during the war for independence. After 3½ years in Borneo she went to Holland for 6½ years. Three years ago, with the help of the Church World Service she came to East Stroudsburg, being sponsored by the Rev. Frank Wingerter of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church. Miss Brusse will illustrate her talk with slides.

The Wyckoff Shopper
'the friendly store' A.B. Wyckoff

Santa Claus has just arrived at Wyckoff's . . . and a high voltage charmer he is!

I am not being facetious when I say this either, for Santa has his own flashlight battery tucked somewhere inside that "little round belly" or under his fluffy white whiskers, and his eyes light up with a veritable galaxy of Christmas stars. Big as he is, he is seated upon the top of a small metal house. When you snap the button on, his head turns from side to side and he raises and lowers a handful of gifts which he seems to offer in a true expression of good will.

If you prefer a snowman to Santa, we have him too . . . and he too is battery operated. Taller than Santa, he is made of shaggy white fabric, and has two red bulbs for eyes, and a high black hat of plastic with a pom pom of snow atop. When the switch is turned on, this snowball rises above his hat, and dances up and down in the air, while his eyes gleam, his head turns from side to side, and he waves a big broom from left to right in rhythmic repetition.

Both are enchanting, and have a way of "snapping" a switch in the heart of the beholder. Instinctively you smile when you see them, and feel your own eyes light up. At 3.98, they're a happy combination of Christmas toy and Christmas joy, and, on the mantel or in the window, OH BOY!

• • •

Recently I was told by one customer that she thought some of our jewelry was very expensive. "It's 35.00 and more," she said, "and it's plastic. Pretty . . . but plastic." I argued that maybe she had read a 3.50 tag incorrectly, but she wasn't convinced.

Today the riddle was solved. I was walking past the jewelry department when I overheard one woman tell another, "It's perfectly beautiful, but it surprises me how many people do not know what amber is." Her companion agreed, "If you didn't know, you would almost think it was plastic."

I stopped to look, and I can see what the lady meant . . . particularly in regard to one necklace that combines flat disks of light and dark amber.

Amber is, of course, one of the precious gems that has been known for years . . . MILLIONS OF YEARS, and has been created from the sap of huge trees that were snapped off and crushed under tons of ice during the Ice Age. It is a gem much prized by the queens of early Rome . . . has legends galore associated with it . . . is said to store up static electricity and work medical miracles (an old wives' tale, of course) and very often one can see in its polished depths the fossils of plant and insect life of aeons ago.

Our amber jewelry at Wyckoff's is among our most precious, and is stunning in both the polished and rough forms. But one must know what it is to truly apreciate it. Believe me, it isn't plastic . . . and, for its quality, it isn't expensive. Because of its ageless splendor, it would be a most appropriate Christmas gift for someone very special.

• • •

Because I'm a sentimentalist, I like our Edgar Guest Christmas cards . . . because I'm a woman, I appreciate the touch of glitter Seamprufe waltz gowns and baby doll pajamas boast with just two sequins in their nylon lace yokes . . . because I like bargains, I approve the genuine leather clutch bags in turquoise, coral, gray, and other colors offered by Bea Gorgy at 1.98, and the roomy bags of imported tapestry at 5.00—almost as pretty as the bigger roomier 7.98 to 10.50 selection . . . because I never know what time it is I am intrigued by our big selection of clocks priced from 3.98 to 100-and-some dollars. Because I see too much around this store, this column is too long!

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

TUESDAY, NOV. 1

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—While planetary aspects are not entirely auspicious delicate work and artistic matters are favored. Be sensibly cautious in money matters. All hazardous activities. Avoid worry, strain and you will work better.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Your Venus well aspected now. Other planets are not so friendly. Make good use of opportunities coming your way and don't waste time needed for accomplishment. Your interests can advance.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Do not give in to inertia or carelessness. These days are as important as when everything looks rosy. We just have to work harder, be more alert.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—While stellar aspects are not entirely friendly, you should nevertheless be spurred on to quicker action to attain desired results. Be patient with those slower than you; they will aid in other ways.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Your natural exuberance and good cheer will prove big aids today. The first few days of this month call for extra care in scrutinizing new projects.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Though this day stresses extra patience and caution with finances, signing contracts, etc., artistic professions and designing are honored and, since these lines are in your sphere use them.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Your indications similar to Taurus now. Don't stray too far from your specific talents and capability. Skill, artistry can be utilized to advantage in many endeavors so exercise yours.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Enlarge your field of endeavor to include matters that require ornamentation. You are skilled and can better any project you set your heart on. Don't procrastinate.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Mild Jupiter influences. You can have a thriving day if you do not reach too far for gain or expect the unreasonable.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Avoid dangers connected with hazardous work, surgery, handling sharp tools, machinery, etc. Will technique and good judgment, however, you can make good.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Your planet Uranus in propitious aspect. You might advance more quickly adding more finesse and a fresh tack. However, don't override others' wishes without due cause.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Your influences now are approaching a new benefic position. Plan wisely as you start the day and don't be hasty. Familiar matters favored.

YOU BORN TODAY: This sector of the Zodiac has given us great artists, sculptors, painters, mental giants. You have versatile talents and good mental powers. Are you developing your assets to the fullest? Keep studying and improving; correct faults and dedicate yourself to high aims and advancement. You can succeed in any business or work to which you are attached and for which have real liking. Birthdate:

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

E-Burg 31-7 Victors

JACK Van Horn scored two touchdowns and passed for a third as East Stroudsburg's Junior Varsity football team scored an easy 31 to 7 victory over Stroud Union High's jayvees yesterday on Gordon Giffels Field.

Van Horn raced 17 yards for the opening touchdown of the game, went five yards in the second period for another and threw a 35-yard pass to Dick Dieter, also in the second period.

In the same period, Dieter scored again, on a 25-yard pass from Doug Hilliard. Bob Corby scored the final East Stroudsburg touchdown in the last period on a 14-yard sprint which saw him spin away from two Stroudsburg tacklers at the 10-yard line. Bill Reese passed to Hilliard for the extra point.

Don Baylor took care of all of Stroud Union's scoring with a 38-yard dash for a TD and a run for the extra point in the fourth quarter.

Bill Werkheiser, Stroudsburg tackle, was injured in the third period, but it was not believed serious.

Bangor JVs Turn Back Visiting Nazareth 18-6

BANGOR — Bangor High School JVs displayed some powerful running ability in the first half yesterday as they dropped Nazareth JVs 18 to 7, at Memorial Stadium.

Sherwood Heard, Dick Pozzutto, and Carmen Communale, all took turns at tallying touchdowns in the first two periods.

But the junior Slaters met some stiff opposition after the intermission and were blanked throughout the way. Fumbling was the Slaters downfall. The Nazareth yearlings pushed across a score in the closing minutes of the game after Jack Finelli, JV coach, cleared the bench.

'Case' Seen Manager Of Los Angeles

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel may be the field manager and general manager of the American League's new Los Angeles club if and when Hank Greenberg and Bill Veeck acquire the new franchise, the Associated Press learned Monday.

Greenberg and Veek virtually are certain to own the Los Angeles club, which will operate next year. They are expected to dispose of their holdings in the Chicago White Sox soon after the American League, at its scheduled meeting Nov. 17, approves their bid for the California franchise.

Veeck made the offer to Stengel last week before the 70-year-old baseball genius left New York for his Glendale, Calif., home. Casey promised to give the matter serious consideration and give his answer in three weeks. A source close to Stengel said Casey would accept.

Stengel, who was dismissed by the New York Yankees two weeks ago, after he had brought the club 10 pennants and seven world championships in 12 years, acknowledged he had received four baseball offers since his dismissal, but he declined to identify them.

Veeck is president and principal stockholder of the White Sox. He headed a syndicate that purchased the club from the Comiskey family two years ago. Greenberg is vice president and a 20 per cent stockholder.

Special Meet Of WIBC Group

THERE WILL be a meeting of the Monroe County W.I.B.C. Bowling Ass'n. on Wednesday, Nov. 2 at 8 p.m. in the Towne Room of the Town Tavern, Main St., Stroudsburg.

All officers and members are urged to attend, as at that time there will be an awarding of the tickets and plans will be made for the annual tournament.

Refreshments will be served.

Buffalo, And Dallas To Join NL

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The Buffalo Evening News Monday said the National League will award franchises to Buffalo and Dallas-Fort Worth and expand to 12 teams at its annual meeting in December.

The National League, which meets in St. Louis Dec. 5, recently expanded to 10 teams, adding Houston and New York for the 1962 season. The Evening News said the 12-team alignment would be put into operation in 1963 or 1964.

The newspaper quoted Branch Rickey, president of the defunct Continental League, as saying he had talked with several National League club owners and commissioner Ford Frick and had learned of their agreement on such expansion.

ERA Heads In Majors

NEW YORK (AP) — Young Mike McCormick of the San Francisco Giants and Frank Baumann of the Chicago White Sox won the major League earned run championships in 1960, final averages revealed Monday. Both pitchers are left-handed.

McCormick led the National League with a 2.70 ERA, and Baumann topped the American with 2.68, according to figures compiled by the Associated Press.

McCormick finished the past season with 15 victories and 12 losses. He gave up 76 earned runs in 253 innings and pitched four shutouts—three against the Los Angeles Dodgers. In 1959, the Pasadena, Calif., native had a 12-16 record and a 3.98 ERA.

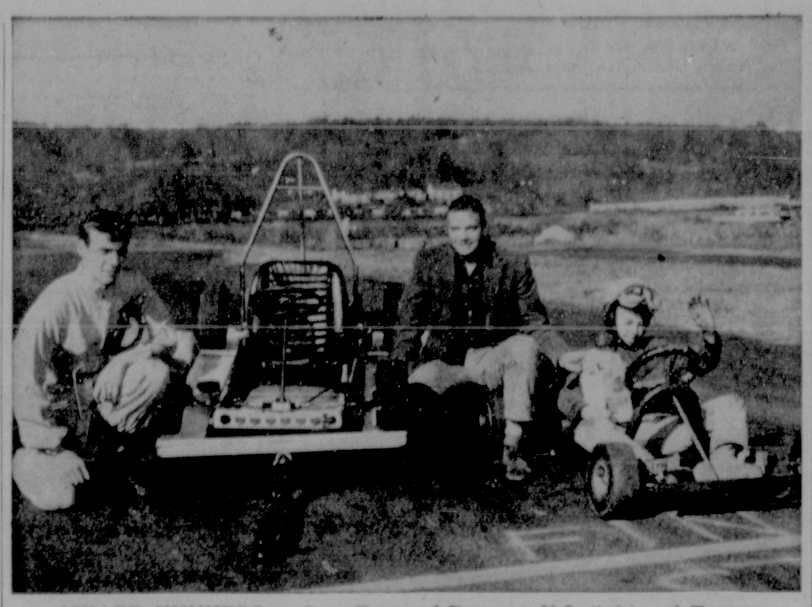

Baumann's 1960 won-lost record was 13-6. He is the first White Sox pitcher to win earned run title since Billy iPerce in 1955.

Jim Bunning of Detroit was the American League runner-up with a 2.79 mark. He yielded 78 earned runs in 252 innings while winning 11 games and losing 14.

Whitey Ford of New York, the ERA champio nin 1956 and 1958, was third with 3.02 followed by Art Ditmar of the Yankees and Hector Brown of Baltimore, 3.06 each.

Ernie Broglio, a 21-game winner for the St. Louis Cardinals, was second in the National League. He gave up 69 earned runs in 226 innings for a 2.75 earned run mark. Broglio had three shutouts.

Don Drysdale of the Dodgers was third at 2.84. The big right-hander pitched five shutouts and led the majors in strikeouts with 246. Bob Friend of the pennant-winning Pittsburgh Pirates and Stan Williams of Los Angeles tied for fourth with 3.00.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves said Monday that scout Wid Mathews had asked for and received permission to look for another job elsewhere in the major leagues. Mathews, a veteran of the Chicago Cubs organization, joined the Braves in 1956.

Harlem Magician Five To Play Pocono All-Stars

MORE HILARIOUS than ever are the mighty Harlem Magicians of basketball, who come into town to face the Pocono Mountain All-Stars in the feature game at the Stroud Union High School gym on Tuesday, Nov. 22 at 8 p. m.

With this great talented club, Marques Haynes, star, manager and owner was very lucky indeed in securing the services of Sam "Boom" Wheeler. A name that will be well spoken of.

"Look at Sam, the Funny Man," is fast becoming the cry of fans who have seen the Harlem Magicians play basketball. Sam "Boom" Wheeler is the star center and funnyman with the fun loving Magicians. The program is sponsored by the Pocono Mountain Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Standing 6' 3", Wheeler is a player who is said to do more tricks with a basketball than many a live magician has up his sleeve. He is the "Delirious" man of the Magicians 3-D basketball—Dribbling, Dazzling and Delirious.

In every game, Sam Wheeler is liable to fake a pass to a teammate and then hide the ball under his jersey, walk around the floor helping everyone look for the ball, or just when his team is in a tight game, he may see a camera fan, he will stop playing ball, borrow the camera and then snap his own picture. You will see him wander off the court and borrow a pair of eyeglasses from a spectator and loan them to the official working the game. On the playing side, Sam is noted for his fancy shots with his back to the basket. Despite his crazy antics on the playing floor he is an accomplished ballplayer.

Sam is also the gentleman. He will apologize to his teammates when he makes a mistake and many a time he will help the opponents by telling them who has the ball.

Fans who have never seen this talented array of basketball stars and funsters will be in for an evening of roundball entertainment when they see the World Famous Harlem Magicians open their assorted bag of tricks.

Dark Named New Pilot Of Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Alvin Dark, former field captain of the Giants, Monday was named the new San Francisco baseball manager and given a two year contract.

The 37-year-old National League veteran, with no previous managerial experience, succeeds Tom Sheehan who took over from fired Bill Rigney last June 18.

To get Dark, who finished the 1960 season with Milwaukee, the Giants traded utility infielder Andre Rodgers to the Braves.

Dark played for the Giants from 1950 to 1955, and was the spark-plug shortstop of the championship clubs of 1951 and 1954.

His selection was announced Monday by Vice President Charles Feeney.

To Dark goes the job of rejuvenating a club that finished fifth last season after many tabbed it the pennant winner in the preseason forecasts. The Giants were second when Rigney was fired but wound up 16 games off the Pittsburgh Pirates' pace.

Salary terms for the two-year contract were not disclosed.

Wanted To Manage

Asked whether managing a team had been a long-time desire, Dark replied that most ball players have the desire to manage as soon as they start playing.

"I have always wanted to stay in baseball in some capacity," he said.

Dark will meet with President Horace Stoneham of the Giants at the major league conferences in December. Most of his consultations with the Giant front office, prior to next season, will be by telephone. Dark said he has many speaking engagements lined up and feels he is committed to keep them.

Both Stoneham and Sheehan sent cabled congratulations to Dark and welcomed him back to the Giant fold. They are in Japan where the Giants are playing a series of exhibition games.

Dark was asked if he thought the Giants had too many Negro players and replied: "I don't see how you can separate players. I hear on TV every day that if a man has ability he should be given the opportunity to express his ability."

In answering the question, the new manager declared: "Some people might think that because I'm from the South I'm prejudiced. But I have played with many Negroes and I never thought I'd treat a colored fellow unfairly."

Giants Win On Homer

TOKYO (AP) — Willie McCovey's ninth-inning home run, a 429-foot shot into the center field stands with the bases empty, broke a tie and gave the San Francisco Giants a 3-2 victory over the Japanese All-Stars Sunday.

It was McCovey's fourth home run and the Giants' fourth victory in seven games on their Japan tour.

Left-hander Billy O'Dell, second of three Giant pitchers, was credited with the victory.

TOURNAMENT CHAMP — John Fish, (left) who captured the first three golfing tournaments at Mountain Manor, Marshalls Creek in 1957-58-59 is presented the tournament trophy. Russell Scott, Jr., owner of the resort makes the presentation.

Charles Potcher Gains Mountain Manor Victory

JOHN FISH was dethroned on Saturday at the Fourth Annual golfing tournament at Mountain Manor, Marshalls Creek.

Charles Potcher, who garnered a low net of 70, was declared as the new champion.

Second place was John Fish, in third was Babe Metzgar and in fourth spot was Bob Ludgate with 71's.

Fish received a golfing cup for his three consecutive wins in 1957-58-59. The presentation was made by Russell Scott, Jr.

Harold Stettler, of Marshalls Creek and Fred Cornell of New York City, both posted low gross scores of 78. Dick Adams of Easton was third in the field and Bud Wisegraver, of Minisink Hills, finished fourth. All had 80's.

Sixty-seven players toured the tournament. Sandwiches and coffee were served and a buffet luncheon was served at 3 p.m.

Lock Haven And W. Chester In Title Clash On Nov. 19

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Lock Haven and West Chester will meet Nov. 19 at Lock Haven for the Pennsylvania State Colleges Football Conferenee champion.

Lock Haven clinched the western section title over the weekend by nosing out Indiana 14-7, West Chester, one of the two undefeated and untied collegiate elevens in the state, was assured of the eastern section championship as East Stroudsburg upset Bloomsburg 21-20.

West Chester could lose its remaining conference game with Bloomsburg and still garner enough rating points for the sectional championship. Caliber of opposition and victories determine the point rating.

The standings:

ESC Girl 1st Team

CHRISTINE Albright, an East Stroudsburg State College sophomore, has been named to first all-college field hockey team. She hails from Lansdale.

The selections were made over the weekend in Philadelphia as all-college tournament in field hockey got underway. Twelve colleges were represented in the tournament.

Coach Anne Venezia's girl team defeated Beaver 2 to 1 and Swarthmore 5 to 0 while playing a 1 to 1 tie with a strong Temple aggregation, during the two-day competition.

Two other ESSC girls were placed on the third team. They were Becky Ross, of Mechanicsburg and Andrea Farris, of East Stroudsburg.

Honorable mentions were Mary Lou Seacock, Sue Schotta, and Sandra Heffentrager.

Five Temple players were selected for the first team, while East Stroudsburg, West Chester, Ursinus, and Drexel, added one each.

Bowling Schedule

EAST Stroudsburg Ladies League will bowl tonight at 6:45 p.m. in Harmon's Recreation.

Town Tavern vs. Weichel Buick, alleys one and two; Pardee Beach Club vs. Dunn's Tavern, alleys three and four; and Eagles vs. Square Bar, alleys five and six.

MAJOR LEAGUE CITIES — Seventeen cities will have major league baseball as result of expansion plans okayed by the American and National Leagues. The AL has added Los Angeles and Minneapolis, St. Paul — to their loop with play to resume in 1961. The senior circuit has approved New York City in addition to Houston, Texas. The three largest populated cities in the country —New York, Chicago, and Los Angeles will each have franchises in both loops. The two National League additions aren't expected to participate until the 1962 season.

SWISHER Dist. Co. defeated Fabel's Dairy 2 to 1 in a high scoring close contest. Good scores were hit by Dick Smoke 224—595, Bill Fry a 233 single and Frank Laise a 581 trio.

With Oscar Stuckey's 253 single and 654 triple and Boyd Chapman's 230—566 total Fabel's Gulf knocked off Happy Hour Tavern, 3 to 1. Ranky Morris's 234—578 was tops for the losers.

Baylor Motors' picked up its first four point win of the season as they blanked Pocono Pump Co. Erve Bush's 580 was the best in this contest.

Lawson's Automotive and Swisher Dist. Co. opened up the night with a very high scoring game; Lawson's coming out on top 990 to 972 setting the league high single game. With this good start Lawson's went on to defeat Swisher's 3 to 1. Otto Groth's 247 single and Stan Konawalik's 591 were the best individual scores.

Colonial 4 Man League

BILL FRY'S 603 led Schoch's Esso to a 3 to 1 victory over Buds Men's Shop. Ernie Transue's 202 single and 575 triple was high for Buds.

Peters Texaco split with Colonial Lanes. Don Hartman's 210 single and 590 triple led the Texaco team. Frank Belli's 235 single and 582 triple was high for Colonial Lanes.

Leggieries Pizzeria defeated Sealtest 3 to 1. Bob Fellencer's 213 single and 544 triple was high for the Pizza men. Russ Staple's 194 single and 535 triple led the Sealtest team.

CHRISTMAS CARDS at Wyckoff's 1st floor: The huge stock of boxed cards offer a fine selection. Some are the Winter Currier and Ives scenes in a box of 12 for $1.00 with or without personal names printed—$1.00 extra for the 1st 25 of your name in print — 2c more per card for additional. A multitude of these Hallmark cards to suggest "When you care enough to send the very best"—These are in stock. You can also peruse the catalogues of imported and domestic cards. The imported cards from Spain are of famous old masters paintings. Printed on fine silk or cloth paper. From $6.25 for (25) — The domestic are somewhat less expensive. Last day for ordering personal Christmas cards is Nov. 15.

EVERY FASHION needs a foundation. Why not let the experts in our Brassiere and Corset department help you select the correct foundation garments for your figure . . . and your fashions. LAUREL QUEEN, Main Street, Stroudsburg.

The Daily Investor

Investment Companies

By William A. Doyle

Q. Studying up on a certain closed-end investment company, I read that "the company has sizable unrealized capitol losses in a number of utility stocks. Under present tax laws, this will enable this investment company to pay tax-free dividends for many years to come."

Does this mean that, if I own stock in this investment company, I will not have to pay Federal income taxes on the dividends I receive?

William A. Doyle

A. That's the general idea — but not the whole story. To be accurate about this, these are not "dividends." They are (hang on to your alphabet) "reduction of tax-cost basis distribution."

There are a number of investment companies (mostly closed-enders) with this setup. And most of them are the corporate descendants of the old public utility holding companies. They have been reorganized or are in the process of reorganizing into investment companies.

Each of these investment companies owns a lot of stock (usually in electric and gas utility companies) which was purchased many years ago at very high prices. So, each of these investment companies has big "unrealized losses" on those stocks.

Every year each of these investment companies sells enough of those high-cost stocks to establish a loss equal to all its earnings and profit for the year.

As a result, the investment company does not show any profit. But it does have cash, which it sends to its shareholders in the form of reduction of tax-cost basis distributions.

Each distribution received by a shareholder reduces the tax-cost basis of the shares he owns.

For instance, if you buy shares of an investment company at $25 a share and receive $5 a share in reduction of tax-cost basis distributions, your tax-cost basis becomes $20 a share.

If you sell the investment company shares at a price higher than your tax-cost basis, you have realized a profit. That profit is subject to capital-gains taxes.

Q. I own 30 shares of Sinclair Oil common stock. I received a dividend check for $22.50 every three months, until September. Then, when the dividend check arrived, it was for $15. Doesn't the company have to notify stockholders when it cuts the dividend?

A. This answer may not satisy you, but the company did make a public announcement of its dividend, as it has always done and as it should.

Dividends paid on common stock may be raised or lowered at any time by the company's board of directors.

Sinclair increased dividends on its common stock to $3 a year, (75 cents every three months) in 1936.

The latest dividend (50 cents a share) you received was declared on Aug. 17. It was payable Sept. 8 to stockholders of record Sept. 1. Since that time, another dividend of the same amount has been declared. It is payable Dec. 10 to stockholders of record Nov. 10.

No Injuries In Accident

CARS operated by Ellen J. Linn, 67, of Wilkes-Barre, and Michael Chopek, 48, of 284 Brodhead Ave., East Stroudsburg, collided yesterday at 12:59 p.m. at the intersection of Fifth and Main Streets. No injuries were reported.

Stroudsburg police investigating the accident said Mrs. Linn told them, "The light was green as I entered the intersection and turned after I was in the intersection. I was traveling east on Main St. at the time."

Chopek had stopped for the traffic signal at the intersection and when the light changed he entered the intersection. He told police, "The light changed and I started to go through the intersection. I did not see the other car until it was in front of me."

Chopek was traveling south on Fifth Street.

Patrolman Russell Decker and William Dwyer, investigating the accident, estimated the damage to each car at $125 and said that both cars had to be towed away from the scene of the accident.

Mrs. Linn was driving a 1947 Dodge and Chopek was operating a 1960 Ford Station Wagon.

The police are continuing their investigation.

Ike To Tour Ohio, Pennsylvania

Both States Weigh Heavily In Election

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower probably will speak in Cleveland and Pittsburgh late this week in an increased effort to help Richard M. Nixon win the presidency.

The White House described this development Monday as quite likely, with both cities to be visited the same day, probably Friday but possibly Saturday.

Cleveland and Pittsburgh are among the chief cities in two crucial states—Ohio has 25 of the nation's electoral votes and Pennsylvania 32.

Both states have given warm receptions to Nixon and his Democratic presidential opponent, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Eisenhower, Nixon and other Republican strategists talked things over for more than two hours at the White House Monday. Newsmen got to see neither of them, but James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, gave some information.

No Details

It was Hagerty who talked of presidential trips to Cleveland and Pittsburgh as strong probabilities. He declined to go into details of strategy for the campaign.

Hagerty likewise refused to relay any word on how Eisenhower feels about the prospective outcome of the election, one week from Tuesday.

Sen. John F. Kennedy said Monday night in Philadelphia that in the Nov. 8 election all America will speak to all the world and its message must be that "America is going to start moving again."

"If we continue to stand still, if we stay grounded on dead center, if we content ourselves with our material goods and our easy life and our rosy reassurances, then the gates will soon be open to a lean and hungry enemy," the Democratic presidential candidate said.

His nationally televised speech from Convention Hall at a $100-a-plate dinner capped four intensive days of campaigning in Pennsylvania, three of them in Philadelphia and its environs.

Kennedy, who will start a two-day swing through California Tuesday, spent most of Monday in a motorcade tour of this Democratic-controlled city and said "the United States cannot possibly afford four years of Republican leadership under Mr. Nixon."

He pictured Vice President Nixon, his Republican rival, as being opposed to what he called the progressive measures necessary to assure a strong, vital, growing country.

Kennedy hoped to pile up a heavy enough margin in Philadelphia, carried by the Democrats in each of the last two presidential elections, to overcome Republican strength in other parts of the state.

Like California, Nixon's home state, Pennsylvania is a key battleground in the presidential election. Each has 32 electoral votes, second only to New York's 45.

In Newark, N. J., Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Monday night Sen. John F. Kennedy had shown "such ignorance of simple economics as to disqualify him to be president."

The Republican presidential nominee made the charge in a speech to an enthusiastic crowd estimated at 15,000 at Ridgewood in heavily Republican Bergen County, 23 miles north of Newark.

The vice president said his opponent had displayed this ignorance in insisting that the Democratic platform could be carried out with a balanced budget and without an increase in taxes. Actually, Nixon said, the platform pledges would cost $15 billion and could not possibly be put into effect without a budget deficit unless federal taxes were raised.

Nixon joined up for the second time in the campaign with his running mate, Henry Cabot Lodge, in making a final bid for New Jersey's 16 electoral votes.

The Democrats have been counting on carrying New Jersey but some Republican leaders in the state were saying at Monday night's rallies that their chances were looking up and the crowds Nixon replied with some taunts of were a good omen.

In his speech at Ridgewood, his own to barbs hurled at him earlier in the day by Kennedy over a fifth radio-television debate.

GROUNDED — The tractor-trailer owned by Bachman Oil Co. rests on its back after it was rolled over by its driver yesterday at 4:04 p.m. at the intersection of Phillips and N. Fifth Streets, Stroudsburg. The driver, Peter Maaser, kicked out the windshield and crawled uninjured from the cab. Maaser said he rolled the vehicle over to avoid endangering lives of others.

Says Affairs 'Deplorable' At Scranton State Hosp.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Aud. Gen. Charles C. Smith Monday charged that administrative affairs at Scranton State Hospital "are nothing short of deplorable."

In a report to Gov. David L. Lawrence covering the hospital's fiscal operations for the three years ended May 31, 1959, Smith said:

"Records of every nature have been falsified, including personnel records, bids, bid proposals, contracts and purchasing orders, the entire area encompassed within this report.

"In the course of our audit there was a system of planned concealment of records and an examination of the serialization of these documents indicates that an undetermined number have apparently been destroyed."

Smith said purchasing at the institution was conducted with "gross excessiveness" and that there was either nondelivery or "fraudulent disposition" of many purchases.

"Total Disregard"

"There was a total disregard of practically every established procedure for the handling and maintenance of records resulting in great detriment to the financial interests of the Commonwealth.

"This disregard was characterized, not only by flagrant irresponsibility, but also a blatant and continuous conspiracy to defraud and cheat the Commonwealth of considerable sums of money."

Recommendations

Smith recommended that the governor take these eight steps to bring the hospital's fiscal affairs into what he said are proper perspective:

Put all administration of the hospital directly under the Welfare and the Justice departments.

Order the Justice Department to investigate to determine any liability "whether civil or criminal."

Have the Welfare Department establish accounting procedures as prescribed by state law in the institution.

Inform the hospital board it is responsible for any handling of fiscal affairs at the institution.

Press for reimbursement of $71,849 which Smith said is money "improperly disbursed for meat and meat products."

Freeze the salary of John Obzud, a hospital administrative officer.

Order compliance of persons involved in the hospital audit with auditor general's summons.

Suspend six officials of the hospital, including Obzud, from further duty pending disposition of the charges.

The others named by Smith are: James Rosenfeld, superintendent; Benjamin Reese, comptroller; Joseph F. Noone, a clerk; James Nocera Jr., also a clerk, and Mrs. Kathryn Barrett, a clerk typist.

The auditor general said he was recommending suspension of the six "by reason of either their knowledge of the conspiracy being perpetrated and their failure to correct the situation, or their active participation in the conspiracy, whether directly or indirectly, and-or both, and any attempt to actively conceal the facts or prevent the acquisition thereof by representatives of this (auditor general's) department."

Grief - Stricken Viewers File Past Plane Victims

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP)—They filed silently into the massive new gymnasium Monday, the quiet shuffling of their feet in strange contrast to the cheers which normally echo across its glistening floor.

They were the students and faculty of California State Polytechnic College and the townspeople from San Luis Obispo, brought together in grief at a memorial service. Sixteen members of the school's football team and six other persons died in a flaming plane crash at Toledo, Ohio, Saturday night.

There was none of the blithe, happy by-play between students, no cheery greetings, no jostling as they massed at the entrances, just the muted tread of hundreds of feet moving slowly toward the seats.

A Presbyterian minister, the Rev. Ray Herr, gave the invocation.

Robert Kennedy, vice president of the college, told of the awesome moment when first word of the tragedy reached the campus. At that time it was feared all 48 persons aboard the chartered plane had perished, but there were survivors.

"For this we are deeply grateful," he said. But when he spoke of the sorrow in the homes of those who died, muffled sobs rose from the audience and continued through the rest of the 20-minute service.

The three remaining games on the football schedule have been canceled.

"I guess everybody will smile again some time, but it's going to be an awfully long time," said Mrs. Lena Plunkett, restaurant hostess at a campus hangout. "This is a small town and tragedy strikes us all deeply."

'Neglect' Hinted In Plane Crash

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Authorities took up the grim task Monday of preparing the bodies of 22 victims of Saturday's airliner crash for return to their homes.

All but three of the dead lived in California. Two were from Elkton, Md., and one lived in Chicago.

They died when a twin-engine charter flight, attempting a takeoff in a heavy fog, crashed and burned. The California-bound aircraft carried 48 persons, including the California Polytechnic College football team.

In Washington, the government suspended the flying certificate of Arctic Pacific, Inc., which operated the C46.

Circumstances of the accident "indicate a gross disregard for public safety and the regulations of the Federal Aviation Agency," said E. R. Quesada, federal aviation administrator.

James Springer, head of the airlines, countered that "The facts brought out by the investigation will not indicate anything of that severe a nature."

Springer, who was in Toledo to arrange transportation for the victims' bodies, said the suspension was "a complete surprise" and would have "a very serious effect on our airline." The Oakland, Calif., firm operates three aircraft in addition to the one that crashed.

Survivors of the disaster said the plane wobbled on takeoff and that one engine failed. The plane sat on the runway for about 45 minutes before the takeoff was attempted. During that time, said Brent Jobe, 19, Vista, Calif., Cal Poly head coach Leroy Hughes conferred with the pilot, Capt. Donald G. Chesser.

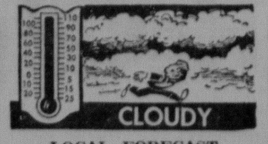

Jobe said the coach told the passengers:

"The pilot has more in this than anyone else. He wouldn't take any chances. We have nothing to worry about."

Preparation of a report on the crash may take several weeks, John M. Cyrocki of the Civil Aeronautics Board said.

He said the CAB was "not in a position to guess" at what caused the crash.

Oil Tanker Flips Over On Fifth St.

PETER MAASER, operating a tractor-trailer, owned by Bachman Oil Co., East Stroudsburg, loaded with 4,600 gallons of fuel oil rolled the vehicle over as he entered Fifth Street as he neared the Phillips Street intersection yesterday at 4.04 p.m. He crawled from the wreckage unhurt.

Maaser said, "I applied the brakes at the top of the hill (on Phillips Street near Queen Street) and the brake pedal went to the floor with no action from the brakes. My first thought was to get the truck stopped before it would cause a very serious accident.

"I applied the emergency brake but it did not stop me—although it did slow me down. As I neared the intersection at Wallace and Phillips I saw a car, and blinked my lights and blew the horn," Maaser continued.

The unidentified driver of the car realized that something was wrong and stopped his car across Fifth Street so no other cars could get through the intersection.

"As I came around the corner I jacknifed the trailer so it would roll over and the danger of someone being killed by a runaway truck would be over, and kicked out the windshield to get out of the cab," said Maaser.

Police investigating the accident checked the air pressure gauge and found it registered 90 pounds pressure.

The Stroudsburg Fire Department was called to the scene to fight any fire that would have started. The only fire was quickly extinguished by Ottmar Hagerty after Mrs. William Johnson gave him a small home extinguisher.

The fire was caused by the emergency brake on the tractor.

Members of the fire department stood by until Stanley Heller moved in and set the vehicle back on its wheels with his mobile crane.

Police investigating the accident estimated the damage to the tractor and trailer at $1,500.

John Bachman, owner of Bachman Oil Co. said late last night that he could not say how much of the 4,600 gallons of fuel oil was lost. The trailer will be inventoried today.

Car, Truck Collide

NO ONE was injured in a collision between a car and a truck near the intersections of Routes 402 and 209 in Marshalls Creek at 2 p.m. yesterday.

State Police of the local barracks identified the drivers as Rea Wintermute 74 of 203 Catherine St., Milford, and Howard Kline, 61, of 406 S. Main St., Lewistown, operating a truck owned by Norr Motor Freight, Inc., Lewistown.

They estimated damage to Wintermute's car at $500 and damage to the truck at $250.

Troopers said Wintermute, traveling east on the highway, applied his brakes to avoid a pedestrian and his car skidded on the rain-wet road and struck the truck almost headon.

Percy Crawford, Evangelist, Dies

REV. DR. Percy Crawford, 58, owner and operator of Pinebrook Bible Conference on Route 90, two miles north of Stroudsburg, died yesterday at 6 p.m. in St. Francis Hospital, Trentown, N. J., following a heart attack.

Dr. Crawford, a pioneer in radio evangelism, was stricken Saturday on the New Jersey Turnpike while en route to a church service in Lancaster. He was rushed to the hospital where he succumbed. He had suffered a heart ailment for several years.

He founded the Pinebrook Bible Conference in Monroe County approximately 28 years ago. The conference has grown to three camps, Pinebrook, Sunnybrook, and Mountain Brook.

Dr. Crawford was a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles, and Westminster Theological Seminary in Philadelphia.

He was an ordained Presbyterian minister.

Dr. Crawford founded "The Young People's Church of the Air" approximately 30 years ago and continued to operate it up to the time of his death. He founded The King's College on the Marconi Estate at Belmar, N. J., in 1938, moving the college to New Castle, Del., in 1940, and to its present site in Briar Cliff Manor, N. Y., in 1954, where he also made his home.

In addition he was the owner and operator of the first and only independent religious television station in the United States, WPCA-TV, channel 17, Philadelphia.

Dr. Crawford also owned and operated five FM and one AM radio stations from coast to coast.

He married the former Ruth Duvall of Collingswood, N. J., and was the father of five children, Donald, 22; Dick, 21. Dan; 19; Dean, 16; and Donna Lee, 10; all of Briar Chiff Manor.

Funeral services will be held Friday at a time and place to be announced.

Editorial Series To State Choices

THE DAILY RECORD today is publishing the first of a series of editorials endorsing candidates for office at next Tuesday's General Election.

Today's editorial concerns the office of a member of the Pennsylvania General Assembly. This will be followed tomorrow by one supporting a candidate for the U. S. House of Representatives.

The third will be published Wednesday, stating the newspaper's opinion with respect to the presidential contest.

Turn now to Page Four for the first editorial of the series.

GM Will Spend Billion On Plants

NEW YORK (AP)—General Motors Corp. Monday disclosed plans to spend $1.25 billion for new and improved plants in 1961, including nearly $1 billion in the United States.

The announcement by Chairman Frederic G. Donner was coupled with a strong statement of confidence in "vigorous long-term growth" of the automobile industry in the U.S. and abroad.

Donner did not directly mention the present state of the national economy, but possibly had it in mind in predicting sales of seven million domestic and foreign passenger car units in the United States next year.

He conditioned the forecast on a continued rise in consumer income and consumer confidence. The prospect he sketched was more optimistic than those drawn earlier by some other industry leaders.

The GM chief spoke to 600 business, industry and finance leaders at a luncheon introducing the new GM models.

Donner said the population growth, a rise in personal incomes and continued migration of families to the suburbs all pointed to an expanding automobile market.

He did not break down next year's spending plans, other than to indicate the overseas segment would amount to about half a two-year plan to invest $500 million more in GM overseas assets already standing at $1.35 billion in 19 countries. GM overseas investment was about $350 million in 1949.

Archbishop Of Canterbury Plans To Visit Pope John

LONDON (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury will visit Pope John XXIII at the Vatison next month. It will be the first such meeting since the Church of England split from Rome four centuries ago.

Announcement of the forthcoming visit was issued Tuesday—All Saints Day—by Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury and spiritual leader of the Church of England. His meeting with the head of the Roman Catholic Church is planned during a stopover in Rome Dec. 1-3 on the way home from a Middle Eastern tour.

The announcement from the 73-year-old archbishop's residence, Lambeth Palace, described the Vatican meeting as "a visit of courtesy."

Although the announcement did not mention it, one likely topic of conversation is the ecumenical council called by the Pope.

Joy Reigns; Boy Is Born

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iranians rejoiced Monday at the birth of a crown prince so lustily that police had to use fire hoses to control Tehran street crowds.

A robust, dark - haired son weighing 8 pounds 11 ounces was born to Queen Farah Diba, the third wife of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi. Divorce had ended two previous marriages of the shah, the monarch since 1941, which failed to provide a heir to the Peacock Throne.

Iran's Moslem people cheered and shouted: "It's a boy! God is great."

Sewell Avery, Ward Aide, Is Dead

CHICAGO (AP)—Sewell Lee Avery, 86, a big businessman who never backed away from a foe—including the U.S. Army—died Monday.

His daughter, Mrs. Roger Follansbee, said Avery, ill for months, died in his home.

Avery, former Montgomery Ward & Co. chairman, was hospitalized in May 1959 when surgeons removed a malignant tumor in his colon.

Avery headed the management of Montgomery Ward & Co. from 1931 to 1955.

His 24-year tenure frequently was enlivened by verbal bouts with stockholders, labor unions, and others who challenged his set way of running his huge merchandising organization.

His most spectacular battles pitted him against the federal government in 1944 and against Louis E. Wolfson in 1955.

Nixon Receives Grit Backing

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — The Grit, nationally distributed weekly newspaper published here, has given its editorial backing to Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican candidate for president.

In an editorial appearing in its current editions, the newspaper said "Nixon is far better qualified to deal with the problems that will come up during the next four years" than is Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic candidate.

The Grit backed President Eisenhower's candidacy when he ran against Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson in 1952 and 1956.

Dear Abby

Sitting On A Powder Keg

Dear Abby: I am a college student. Last year I met a student who attends another college. We were strongly attracted to each other. I sent him my picture, signed "Love forever." He came to see me many times. We got very serious and then I heard that he had been married all along. He denied it. When I got proof he admitted he was married and the father of a little boy. I told him it was hopeless for us but he insisted he loved me and things could be worked out. Now his wife knows about us because he confessed everything. If she names me in her divorce suit my reputation will be ruined because we went beyond kissing. What should I do?

RUINED

Dear Ruined: All you can do is wait. If you are involved in the divorce, you will need a lawyer to represent you. In the meantime, talk to the chaplain at your college. He will give you the moral support you need.

Dear Abby: Some friends of ours invited us to their daughter's wedding in 1957. We sent the bride a very lovely wedding gift. In 1958 she had a baby, which they announced with those little printed "hints" (this also burns me up) and I had to send a gift. In 1959 they got a divorce. Now get this — last week this girl's parents sent out announcements of their daughter's marriage to another man. Do we have to send another wedding gift?

BURNED UP

Dear Burned: No one HAS to send a gift for any occasion. Rich gifts wax cold when giver is burned up.

Dear Abby: I am going with a man who wants to marry me. I think I love him but he does something which I neither love nor understand. He likes to hunt deer and shoot wild birds. I know lots of men hunt and no one thinks it is cruel, but I cannot marry a man who will take a gun and kill defenseless birds and animals just for the sport of it. Maybe if I were starving to death I would kill in order to eat, BUT I can't see any excuse for it today. When I told him I would marry him if he gave up hunting, he laughed in my face. Was I so foolish?

SOFTHEARTED

Dear Soft-hearted: You were not foolish. If you feel that way, don't marry him.

Dear Abby: I know it is your job to give advice, not mine, but I hope you will print my story for all teen-agers who are in a hurryto get married. I fell in love with Tom when I was 15. He was 18. I fought with my family because I wanted to quit school and get married. He wanted to go to trade school, but I begged him to take any kind of job so we could get married. We ran off and got married and broke our parents' hearts. Tom wasn't ready to settle down so we started to fuss at each other. I got pregnant. He couldn't stand my whining so he left me. Now he wants a divorce because he says he missed out on his youth and it was my fault. He is right. I still love him, but his love for me has turned to hate.

Please, girls, stay home and finish school and let the guys grow up before you start nagging for marriage. I am 16 years old, pregnant, and will be a divorcee in five months.

"A 16-YEAR-OLD HAS BEEN"

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. She answers all letters.

Bond Sales Up In County

ERNEST H. Wyckoff, Monroe County Chairman of Pennsylvania Saving Bond Sales, reported last night that bonds totaling $99,772 were sold during the month of September in Monroe County.

For the same period last year the sales were $92,837.

Pike County chairman Donald Z. Wade reported that September sales were $16,018 and for the same period last year he gave the figure for the sales as $7,462.

Wayne County Chairman Fred B. Trumm said the sales for his county for September of this year were $40,650 as compared to $27,700 for September, 1959.

Norman A. Peil, Northampton County chairman, gave his sales for September as $1,224,120. His sales for the same period last year were $555,872.

What's in store for stocks?

That's never easy to answer, we admit.

But with the help of our Research Department in New York, we've just put together a two-hour answer that should make a lot of sense to any seasoned investor.

If you'd like to hear it—a thorough-going discussion of basic trends in our economy, a series of specific suggestions to meet various situations and objectives during the months ahead—then don't miss our Stock Market Forum.

We're holding it on Monday evening, November 7th, in the Penn Stroud Hotel, starting at 8:00 sharp.

Bullish or bearish, we think you'll find these two hours well spent, think they should prove extremely helpful to even the most experienced investor.

There's no charge connected with the Forum, of course, but admission will be by ticket only.

If you'd like to come, simply call and tell us you'll be there, or just mail us the coupon below.

Taft Lists Growing Nixon-Lodge Sentiment

By Bobby Westbrook
Daily Record Writer

A GROWING sentiment for Nixon and Lodge in both Ohio and Pennsylvania and a prediction that the Republican ticket would carry both states was reported at the Republican rally last night at the American Legion in East Stroudsburg by Robert Taft, grandson of President William Howard Taft.

Taft, himself running for state senator in Ohio, took time out from his own campaigning to speak at the local rally, flying in from Cincinnati through murky skies. In sharp contrast to the rainy streets, the crowd found in the auditorium some unexpected political pageantry.

Hostesses, from the volunteers who staff the party headquarters, wearing white Nixon-Lodge skimmers and red, white and blue sashes, presented the audience with campaign hats, balloons, and stickers, adding color to the crowd.

However, the mood sobered as the speakers hammered home the issues dividing the candidates.

Which Man

"Which man, which party will make the kind of decisions necessary in the critical times ahead? That is the question each voter must answer next week," Taft said, urging that each man answer that question not as a member of any group in age, church affiliation or economic status but as a citizen concerned how the whole country could best be served.

Taft left no doubt as to what his own convictions, hammering home issues debated in campaign speeches and television debates; national security, economic growth, and the preservation of individual liberties.

He compared the "experience, judgment and integrity" of the records of Nixon and Lodge with the Kennedy's rashness, his difference with his own running mate, his lack of prestige in his own party, and emphasis on trying to bring "prosperity by government edict," with consequent loss of individual liberty, initiative and judgment.

State Senator William Z. Scott, himself not up for election, spoke on behalf of what he termed the "forgotten candidates:" Charles Smith, State Treasurer, and Robert Kent, State auditor, testifying that they had done a good job in their "watch dog capacity" in the state; and for Judge Blair Gunther, whom he termed "an outstanding jurist."

Also Endorsed

Scott also endorsed Woodrow Horn, candidate for U.S. Representative, as a "young man with new ideas" and Hanford Cleveland, candidate for state Representative, whom he said was needed as "a brake on the wild spending of the Lawrence administration."

Horn and Cleveland also spoke for themselves.

"This district needs a full-time Congressman," Horn said, charging that the incumbent, Francis Walter had a 37 percent absentee record, voting in only 30 out of the last 80 major legislative matters, many of them of concern to the people of his district.

"My number 1 action will be the Delaware Valley Dam System," he said, pointing to the rewards in conservation, flood control and industrial development of the area. He called Walter's delay in promoting the project, first offered in 1932, as "inexcusable."

Horn also promised to assign an administrative assistant who would live in the area and form a closer link between the individuals and the national administration and to serve as an ambassador to the area in interesting new industry in settling here.

Hanford L. Cleveland also promised to provide a closer contact and personal service between the people of the county and the "bureaucratic government" now in power in the state. He re-iterated his promise:

"Shall never vote for a state income tax or a wage tax," and added:

"I favor priority for disabled veterans in Civil Service and will support amendments to make the state law read the same as the Federal law."

Actually there were 17 other speakers at the rally which opened with a preview of the one-minute tape recordings made by local housewives, lawyers, farmers, and even a musician who will present his message in jingles to be broadcast this coming week.

Parke Unangst, county chairman, presided at the meeting, which was opened and closed with prayer by Rev. William F. Wunder. Montgomery F. Crowe introduced the speakers.

Barrett Pleas For Support For Chest

BARRETT — An appeal for support of the Barrett Division of the Monroe County Community Chest was sounded yesterday by John Vaneria, captain of the division.

In a statement addressed to "friends and neighbors in Barrett Township," Vaneria said the appeal was being made "to assure complete success in meeting our quota." He added:

May Mail

"If you have not been contacted by a solicitor and wish to make your pledge or contribution, you may do so by mailing it to me at this address: John Vaneria, Captain, Barrett Division, Community Chest, RD 1, Box 108-A, Cresco, Pa.

"A pledge sticker emblem and receipt will be returned by mail."

AL SCHAFFER, co-chairman of the industrial division of the 1960 Community Chest fund campaign, whose division is responsible for the largest single quota $23,528 in the current campagn for $86,944 for the 12 member agencies of the Chest.

Stroudsburg Man To Head Presbytery

SNYDERSVILLE — Thomas J. Willis of Stroudsburg was elected president of the Lehigh Presbytery Council, United Presbyterian Men, at a meeting recently in Brainerd's Presbyterian Center.

Others elected were Elam Gray, Delaware Water Gap, Secretary; and B. W. Seigfried, Bethlehen, executive vice president.

Gordon L. Coy, Stroudsburg, northeast area vice president; Joseph Policelli, Wind Gap, eastern area vice president; Walter McClellan, Freeland, northwest area vice president; William Hartman, Allentown, southwest area vice president; and Douglas Potts, Pottsville, western area vice president.

Commander J. R. Craig, USN (Ret.) of Bethlehem was the main speaker and his theme was, "The Other Side of the Coin."

Halloween Parade Reset Tomorrow

INCLEMENT weather yesterday caused the postponement of the annual Halloween parade until Wednesday at 7 p.m.

A change in the formation schedule has been made. The floats will form on Monroe St. between Seventh and Sixth Sts.; costumed marchers will form on Seventh St. from Main to Monroe St.; and the bands and other marching units will form on Seventh St. between Monroe and Sarah.

The line of march will enter Main Street at Eighth Street, Stroudsburg and continue on the original line of march.

Veteran Concert Artists To Appear Here Wednesday

VETERANS of 17 years as concert artists, having played before 2,000 audiences all over the world, Benno and Sylvia Rabinoff, violin-piano duo, will open the 1960-61 Pocono Community Concerts season on Wednesday night in the East Stroudsburg State College Auditorium. The concert will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Rabinoff, born in 1908 in New York's lower east side, of Russian-American parents, made his debut as a violinist at the age of 19. However, performances of another kind were competing with Benno's musical talents. While attending Boys High in Brooklyn he became one of its outstanding athletes. He was a crack quarterback, and a star sprinter on the track team, running the 100 yard dash in under 10 seconds.

Famous Teacher

His mother encouraged him to study violin, and among his teachers was the famous Leopold Auer, teacher of many famous concert violinists. Today, Rabinoff owns a $40,000 Guarnarius violin, a priceless bow collection, and the piece de resistance is the $100,000 Stradivarius, on which Fritz Kreisler played his last recital, and which Rabinoff will play in the Wednesday evening recital.

His equally talented wife, Sylvia, at the age of 20, made her debut in Paris, having studied with Paderewski and Rudolph Serkin. She is not only a most competent pianist, but a composer of instrumental solos, chamber music, and an opera for children.

A comment from the San Antonio Express," Benno and Sylvia Rabinoff, a married pair of sterling musicians who cooperate on the violin and piano respectively, won the applause and admiration of a large, new audience," may well sum up the feelings of Wednesday night's audience.

Commissioners Receive Liquid Fuels Tax Audit

THE AUDIT for the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund from the office of the Auditor General's office was read at the board meeting yesterday. The audit covered a two-year period, from 1958 to 1959.

The commissioners received for the year of 1958, $220,315.66 and $151,723.31 for 1959. The receipts for both years plus the balance for the two years, less expenditures, left a balance of $102,873.62 for 1959.

The audit showed that all monies received were deposited and maintained in a special fund, designated as the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund, and that no other monies were deposited and comingled.

The report stated, "We have examined the books of accounts and records as they pertain to the fiscal operations of the Commissioners of Monroe County, with respect to their administration of the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund account for the two yearly periods.

"We have reviewed their system of internal control and accounting procedures and found them to be in perfect order."

Distributed

The money for this fund shows that one-half cent of the permanent tax of three cents per gallon on liquid fuels shall be distributed to the counties of the Commonwealth to be used for construction, reconstruction, maintenance and repair of roads, highways or bridges.

In addition, the commissioners may make grants to the political subdivisions within their respective counties for the purpose of financing, in whole or in part, the improvement and maintenance of highways and bridges, including property damages.

In other action, Middle Smithfield Township was given $5,681.50 in County Aid.

Merit Badge Seminar On Saturday

THE second merit badge counselors' seminar will be held rain or shine on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 5, at the Easton Jr.-Sr. High School on Northampton Street, Easton.

According to Dr. Nathan G. Meyer, coordinator of the seminar, the following Monroe County men will serve as resource persons for the fifteen buzz sessions: Jerry Blakeslee, Michael Jacabella, Percy Marvin, Wally Butz, Frank Varney and Glenn Fisher.

Other resource persons from the other scouting districts of the Delaware Valley area Council are: LeRoy Fritts, Richard Shelling, Peter Mueller, Philip March, Calvin Williams, Herman Hahn, Edward Lomasson, Asher Koehler, William Turner, Jules Falcone, Carl Everett, William Myers, Robert Porter, George Stewart, William Miller, Carl Hill, Irving Lehrer, and Charles Cole.

Leaders and others who have not made dinner reservations should do so today. Report for dinner on Saturday, Nov. 5 at 12:45 p.m. at the cafeteria at the Easton Jr.-Sr. High School.

Assistance Topic At Churches Meet

PLANS FOR A large-scale program of assistance to areas of acute human need were discussed during the Division of Inter-Church Aid and Service to Refugees of the World Council of Churches meeting yesterday at Buck Hill Falls.

The 12-member committee includes inter-church aid officials from Asia, Europe and the United States. It is the first meeting of the group to be held in the United States since the present committee was set up in 1954. The group meets quarterly to administer a world-wide program of aid to churches and people in need.

Daily Record Supporting Van Yetter For Reelection

One week from today, Monroe County voters will go to the polls and elect their representative in the Pennsylvania General Assembly.

They will make their choice between the incumbent, Rep. Van D. Yetter, Democrat, and the challenger, Hanford L. Cleveland, Republican.

Mr. Yetter has served two terms in the Legislature — terms that were interrupted by the one two-year term served by Mr. Cleveland.

As a member of the majority party of the House, Mr. Yetter was able to accomplish much in the matter of legislation during his four years in office.

His seniority has paved the way for his appointment to a number of important standing committees: Highways Townships, Boroughs, Game, Fish and Agriculture, and several special committees.

It is this experience and seniority in Harrisburg which convinces us that the interests of Monroe County would be served best by the reelection of Mr. Yetter.

Our support of the incumbent assemblyman is further enhanced when the coming election is viewed from the standpoint of who has done the most for Monroe County during his service in Harrisburg. Here, again, we must side with Mr. Yetter.

During his two terms, Rep. Yetter sponsored or co-sponsored a total of 46 bills in the House. Of these, 25 passed both House and Senate and were signed into law.

His name was on four measures providing the money and making it possible for the state to clear the streams, build flood control dikes and rebuild the roads, streets and bridges that were damaged by the 1955 flood.

Other bills with which he was associated include those making an appropriation to the Department of Commerce for the promotion of Pennsylvania (thus creating more business for Pocono Mountains resorts); allowing New Jersey and Pennsylvania to cooperate in building dams on the Delaware River; eliminating the requirement of waiting a week for unemployment benefits when unemployment resulted from a flood or other disaster, and authorizing abatement of real estate tax if property was destroyed or damaged by the 1955 flood.

Among the Yetter-sponsored bills approved by the 1959-60 session of the Legislature were those requiring the Highway Department to erect signs notifying motorists of the penalty for throwing trash or rubbish along roads; clarifying enforcement of the sales and use tax and placing the burden of proof on the Department of Revenue; requiring the Highway Department to issue permits for movement of oversize and overweight equipment at county offices of the department, and an emergency appropriation to the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority. This money is used to bring new industry into the state and to help small firms expand and increase local employment.

Many of the measures he sponsored or co-sponsored have brought great benefit to Monroe County and its people. To ignore such service to the constituents he represents would be inflicting a major injustice upon Rep. Yetter.

Surely, Mr. Cleveland's record of service to Monroe County did not measure up to either of the two terms served by Mr. Yetter.

In fact, Mr. Cleveland himself gave evidence of his desire to step out of politics when he accepted a pension for the term he was in office. In other words, he actually retired himself when he accepted the pension benefits.

These, then, are the factors which have shaped our decision to endorse Rep. Yetter. We urge all voters in the county to support his candidacy at the Nov. 8 election.

—o—

The second in a series of editorials giving our reasons for endorsing certain candidates for office will appear tomorrow. It deals with the U.S. House of Representatives.

The Allen-Scott Report

Graham, Nixon's Friend

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — Evangelist Billy Graham is publicly declaring for Vice President Nixon later this week.

This will be the first time Graham has injected himself into a presidentia l race.

A close friend of the Republican standard-bearer, Graham will explain he is voting for him on personal grounds.

Sen. John Kennedy was notified of this by Graham some weeks ago.

In a letter to the Democratic standard-bearer, the evangelist wrote he had determined to back Nixon because of personal friendship.

Graham stressed that religion had nothing to do with this decision, and that he did not intend to raise the religious issue during the campaign. The evangelist also assured Kennedy that if he is elected he will support him.

During Graham's crusade in Washington last June, he and his wife were guests at the Vice President's home several times. The evangelist and Nixon also had a number of long conferences in the latter's Capitol office during this two-week period. On two occasions, Graham and his wife occupied front seats reserved for the Vice President in the Senate visitors' gallery.

Counter Attack — The acrid election wrangling over those unpublished U. S. Information Agency foreign "prestige" surveys may lead to a spectacular by-product — the official release of the State Department's long-secret files on the historic Yalta and Posdam conferences.

Vice President Nixon has discussed this with Secretary Herter in connection with publishing the USIA's "confidenial" prestige reports.

Sen. Kennedy and other Democratic campaigners are stentoriously demanding these studies be disclosed. Nixon has proposed to Herter this be done — simultaneously with the publication of the Yalta and Potsdam papers.

Under Nixon's plan, he would send Herter a telegram urging this, and then make that known in a statement or speech.

Former National Chairman Leonard Hall, Nixon's personal campaign manager, is credited with strongly advocating this strategy. As a member of Congress, Hall hotly denounced the Yalta and Potsdam conferences as "sell-outs."

Portions of the official files on the two parleys have been published at various times since World War II. But although Republican leaders have been highly critical of the two meetings, in which the late Josef Stalin participated, the Eisenhower Administration has never released the official records.

One explanation has been that this cannot be done without the consent of the other participating countries.

Heady Stuff—Reason for those cocky Democratic claims that Pennsylvania's 32 electoral votes are now definitely in Senator Kennedy's column is an extraordinary private prediction made by Rep. William Green, the bustling leader of Philadelphia's powerful organization.

During Kennedy's rousing electioneering in this area, Green confidently assured him he will carry it by "more than 300,000."

"I realize that sounds astounding," said Green, "but I mean it, and that is what is going to happen. You are going to carry Philadelphia by a much bigger majority than Franklin Roosevelt did in 1936, when he won here by 208,000. All our polls and checks show that. It's phenomenal, but we're absolutely certain of it."

The Democratic standard-bearer was also told he must sweep Philadelphia by at least 185,000 to ensure his carrying the state.

The Philadelphia leaders estimated Kennedy's state-wide margin at 80,000.

President Eisenhower, won Pennsylvania in 1956 by 603,000. But Stevenson carried Philadelphia by a small edge. In 1952, the President took the city by around 60,000.

Politicians — President Eisenhower has invited Brazil's President-elect Janio Quadros to come to Washington before taking office in January. If he agrees to that, it may be announced before the Nov. 8 election. Quadros already has accepted invitations to visit Argentina and Uruguay before his inauguration.

South Dakota's 18,000 Sioux Indians may determine the outcome of the neck-and-neck race between Senator Karl Mundt and his Democratic rival, Rep. George McGovern. The latest GOP poll shows Mundt leading 50.9 to 49.1 percent; a Democratic poll gives the two candidates 49 percent each, with two percent undecided. These polls did not include the Sioux, a majority of whom are on two reservations. As a result, they could decide this photo-finish senatorial battle.

Former Secreatry of Sate Dean Acheson is finally getting into the election contest — in a local way. He is making speeches for the Democratic ticket in Maryland, where he has a country estate. Acheson supported Senator Symington, for the presidential nomination, and has been quiescent until these final days of the campaign.

Treasury Secretary Anderson is telling friends he has already accepted an important business position after he leaves office with the Eisenhower Administration in January. Anderson is saying he will not continue in the cabinet even if asked to do so.

Republican Candidate for Auditor General

Why an Auditor General for Pennsylvania?

The prime reason for creation of the office of Auditor General as a Constitutional official was to make him directly responsible to the people of the state, rather than to any Governor or to any political party.

Every qualified voter has the power, through his ballot, to approve the person of his choice at the polls.

It should be of the utmost importance therefore, that this year, especially, the Auditor General be elected from the party of the opposite political affiliation of the incumbent majority administering the greater portion of the state's business.

The state's Fiscal Code imposes upon the Auditor General "the duty of making all audits which may be necessary in connection with the administration of the financial affairs of the State Government."

He must make at least one audit each year of the financial affairs of "every department, board and commission of the executive branch" (those under the Governor).

Further, all appropriation acts adopted by the Legislature are carefully studied by the Auditor General for it is his duty to determine what claims or requisitions processed by the governmental agencies "may be necessary, and whether the proposed expenditure is legal."

It is not my intention here to indicate that any state official may be circumventing any legal requirements or restrictions in the operation of his duties.

It is human nature to fall into a weak temptation to take an easy way out of a difficult problem. Often the temptation can be greased by political expediency— or plain inefficiency.

Here is the basic reason for an Auditor General being elected by the people — rather than appointed by a higher authority. As a Constitutional officer of the State Government with his duties defined by the Constitution, he is not relegated to the unhappy position of following a policy laid down by one man or a political group.

He can show no favors when it concerns the financial or fiscal affairs of the Commonwealth. He is the direct representative of the taxpayer — the public — and as such is often called the "Watchman of the Treasury."

At a time when the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is dealing in billions of dollars, it is essential that this state's Auditor General be experienced in the legislative, the legal and fiscal affairs of the state.

It is of prime importance, also, that Pennsylvania has an Auditor General who believes in strict efficiency and honesty in accounting for pennies as well as millions of dollars, and one who will not tolerate favoritism in the conduct of the affairs of that office.

Fair but fearless audits of all accounts between the Commonwealth, through any administrative agency, and any person, is an absolute necessity.

And at the risk of being redundant, I repeat that an Auditor General of a political party other than that of the present Governor's party is most desirable for greatest protection and inspection of the financial affairs of the taxpayer's property — the Commonwealth.

This I believe, and to this I am pledged in my current candidacy to become Pennsylvania's next Auditor General.

Issues In Campaign—IV

Education Conflict

BY CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

BOTH Democratic Presidential nominee John F. Kennedy and Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon have laid out their propsals for a comprehensive, kindergarten-to-graduate-school-and-then-some program of federal aid to education.

Both candidates agree that the Federal Government should aid construction of public primary and secondary schools and college dormitories and classrooms; increase the number of Government college scholarships and make post-graduate study available to more people; expand current federal participation in vocational training, adult education and library services. Details of these programs have not been given, but few irreconcilable variations are apparent.

But the candidates disagree sharply on whether the Federal Government should provide funds for the express purpose of raising public school teachers' salaries. Nixon says it shouldn't, for fear of federal control over teachers, but that his program would indirectly result in a boost in teachers' pay; Kennedy says it should, rejecting the federal control argument, and that Nixon's program would not have the effect the Vice President claims.

The Issue: How can the Federal Government most effectively help close the classroom gap and teacher shortage that has developed since World War II?

The secondary theme: What kinds of guarantees are needed to preclude the accompaniment with federal aid of heavy federal interference with the teaching process?

Perhaps the most significant but overlooked factor in all this is the assumption and emphatic argument by both candidates that the Federal Government must greatly increase its contribution to local educational activities. Though opposition to any kind of federal aid to education remains among Congressmen of both parties, neither candidate even acknowledges this once prevailing but ever diminishing point of view.

Kennedy's Position

Kennedy proposes that federal grants be given to the states, to be used as the states see fit for school construction and/or teachers' salary expenses. In his first TV debate with Nixon, Kennedy Sept. 27 said: "I don't want the Federal Government paying teachers' salaries directly, but if the money will go to the states and the states can then determine whether it shall go for school construction or for teachers' salaries, in my opinion you protect the local authority over the school boards, and the school committees."

The Federal Government already is supporting teachers' salaries under a program passed by Congress in 1950 (PL 874) giving federal aid for operating schools in districts in "federally impacted areas" — areas where schools are overcrowded or deprived of taxable lands because of the presence of military bases, Indian reservations, Government contractors, etc. In 1959, about 4,200 schools districts received over $150 million in such aid. The program affected approximately one-fourth of the Nation's school children.

The money is given to the school districts, which then use it as needed. Laws governing the program prohibit any federal control over curriculums or selection of teachers. The U.S. Office of Education estimates that 60-65 percent of the funds spent under PL 874 have paid teachers' salaries; there have been no complaints of federal control.

Democrats argue that the Vice President's contention that his program would "release" money for teachers' salaries is "misleading." Kennedy spokesmen have argued that in many states the granting of federal funds for classroom construction, which must be matched by state funds (always a requirement in aid to education bills), simply attracts state money away from teachers' salaries into construction and that in some states, particularly those that have a declining population, the need for classrooms is much less than that for teachers.

As for Nixon's construction program offering federal money to help pay off the costs of construction bonds ("debt service"), Democrats point out that 18 states have laws which would prevent extra money from going for salaries even if the Government assumed part of the debt incurred from building schools.

A debt service program sponsored by the Administration was branded a "banker's bill" by Democrats this year and was rejected in the Senate by a 25-61 vote and in the House by a voice vote.

Nixon's Position

The Vice President has repeatedly asserted that any program directly providing for federal funds to be used to supplement teachers' salaries would lead to federal control of teachers and their curriculums.

In the Sept. 27 TV debate Nixon said: "When the Federal Government gets the power to pay teachers, inevitably, in my opinion, it will acquire the power to set standards and to tell the teachers what to teach . . . My objection here is not the cost in dollars, my objection here is the potential cost in controls and eventual freedom for the American people by giving the Federal Government power over education, and that is the greatest power a government can have."

To the argument that a Federal Government could as easily set curriculum standards for districts accepting construction aid as for those accepting teacher-salary aid, Nixon answered on a Sept. 11 TV appearance:

"When we give money for buildings, even here we say we're not going to have standards. But let's assume we did have standards, the classrooms would have to be a certain size. That's one thing. But when you set standards for teaching, what they can teach, what subjects can be taught, what they have to meet, this is an altogether different thing. We're talking in the one instance about control of the mind. We're talking in the other instance of control of matter and there's a very great difference."

Throughout Nixon's campaign, he has warned against "rigid uniformity imposed by dictation from Washington" and "federal control" as the inevitable outgrowth of federal aid to teachers' salaries. He has particularly emphasized this in speeches in the South, tying it to his general theme that the Democrats intend to further seize the powers of the states and place them in Washington.

Nixon concludes, therefore, that his program to aid school construction would result in a boost to teachers' salaries indirectly, by freeing funds which would then be used for the salaries. Such an indirect approach, he said in his position paper on education, would raise the salaries "without menacing the invaluable freedom of our schools by inhibitive federal control."

Inside You And Yours

Gout In Kidneys

"Come off it, Doc! ..This is 1960 !

"You know—sports cars, hi-fi, Ivy League suits.

"Who ever heard of gout today?"

Lots of people! That streamlined calendar won't shield you from old-fashioned gout if you've inherited the tendency.

And gout prefers masculine company almost all the time.

Gout is actually a kidney disease that starts in the liver. Here, protein building blocks are digested into many chemicals, including one called uric acid. Kidney cells normally push this uric acid out before too much accumulates to cause trouble.

When these cells slow down, uric acid collects like a gang of delinquents with no policeman to urge them on. Soon there's enough to gang up on you.

For weeks, Stan had raced around in his smooth-running sports car, never knowing that sluggish kidney cells would put it in the garage for days.

Sudden Symptoms

Feverish chills woke him one night. His right knee looked like a boiled lobster that needed plastic surgery — and felt worse.

Uric acid had irritated the joint into red-hot inflammation. Doctors knew he had gout when his blood showed a uric acid reading of nine — over six and seven spells trouble.

But uric acid readings sometimes fool the best doctors. Ordinary (rheumatoid) arthritis can raise the level to seven or eight.

Old-fashioned colchicine pills can restore that extra push the kidneys need to pour out uric acid. Stan passed the final test for gout when colchicine alone cooled down his hot knee and feverish brow.

Cortisone and other modern drugs might have helped Stan, but not his doctors. These medicines relieve all kinds of arthritis; only colchicine can clear up any uric acid confusion.

Dams Back Acid

Aspirin may magnify gouty agony. The usual couple of pills dam back uric acid into the system.

Grocery stores sell other gout-magnifiers in tins. One sardine turns into a whale of a lot of uric acid when the kidneys, aren't pushing it. Organs like kidneys and liver also have gout-danger written all over them.

A few years ago, Stan could have counted on gout returning as regularly as a sports car circling the track. Repeated collisions with gout smash joints until they're in no shape to work. Uric acid eventually eats right through everything.

Useful Drugs

But today new drugs (like probenecid) can help slow kidneys keep pace with uric acid production.

For gout sufferers doctors also write giant prescriptions that call for half a gallon of water daily. As excess uric acid pours through the kidneys, tiny crystals may damage delicate cells and build pebble-like stones. Water can usually dissolve away all this danger.

The water's important. You can always bandage and cushion a big toe or sore knee. But what kind of a dressing can you put on a gouty kidney?!

Just Between Us——

"Tiger at the Crossing" sounds like the title of a jungle film, but that's what really happened. Solemnly guarding the crossing at noon at the corner of Prospect and Ridgeway Sts. was a tiger, complete with mask and a yellow slicker.

I was going to add "in broad daylight" but that was the darkest daylight for many a day, and a shame it was, too. Bound for schoolroom parties, the ghosts were dragging their ectoplasm; the starry crowns on the fairy queens were wilting in the dampness; and many a little devil had mud on the end of his dangling tail.

The only ones who stayed in character were the miniature football players who looked as if they'd just been through a pretty muddy scrimmage, as no doubt they had.

Well, a rainy Halloween is hard on the kids, but even harder on their parents. Badgered mothers were calling up in droves to make certain sure that the parade had been called off for tonight—and then, I presume, wearily making up the tail section of the impromptu neighborhood parade Halloweening through the puddles.

Well, let's hope for a warm bright night for Wednesday so everybody can get Halloween out of the way before Thanksgiving. I always feel a little crowded on the first of the month when Trudy Hellmann brings in the Clearing House Calendar.

A whole month of such earnest and worthy endeavor makes me tired just thinking about it. Or maybe it was just the weather that was making everybody yawn yesterday. .....

Special Events Calendar Brightens Gray November In Monroe County

While the countryside fades from the blaze of glory that is October into the gray days of November, the activities of its residents flares up in a number of special events. Concerts and fashion shows, bazaars and dances are listed in the Clearing House Calendar prepared as a public service by the Woman's Club of the Stroudsburgs.

In the calendar, released today by Mrs. Robert Hellmann, chairman, special events seeking public support in November include:

Tuesday, 1: Fashion Show, card party, Business and Professional Woman's Club, Pocono Manor, 8 p.m.

Wednesday, 2: Pocono Community Concert, East Stroudsburg State College auditorium, 8:30 p.m.

Christmas Gift Sale, sponsored by East Stroudsburg Band Mothers at Grand Theater Bldg., East Stroudsburg, opens three-day stand.

Friday, 4: World Community Day Service, Zion United Church of Christ, Stroudsburg, sponsored by Monroe Co. Council of United Church Women, 8 p.m.

Wednesday, 9: Fall luncheon, Episcopal Churchwomen, parish hall, Christ Episcopal Church, 1:15 p.m.

Thursday, 10: Dutch Treat Club, speaker, Vincent Sheean, Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Friday, 11: Rummage Sale, Stroud Community Club, two days.

Wednesday, 16: Altar, Rosary Society Bazaar, American Legion, 4 p.m.

Thursday, 17: Opening performance of Senior Class Play, Stroud Union High School, 8 p.m.

Friday, 18: Senior Class Play, Stroud Union High school, 8 p.m.

Junior Woman's Club square dance, American Legion Hall.

Wednesday, 23: Schools close after noon for Thanksgiving holidays.

Thursday, 24: Thanksgiving.

Monday, 28: Schools resume.

Already scheduled for December is a Pocono Community Concert for the 6th; Community Chorus, sponsored by BPWC at Stroud Union High School, 8 p.m., on 10th; Junior Woman's Club Christmas dance, 17th; Stroud Union Christmas program for public, 9:15 p.m. on 22nd; Stroud Union Senior Christmas Ball, 23rd; College Students Dance and Buffet Supper, Penn-Stroud, 30th.

Miss Betty Lou Owens Bride Of Gerald Moore

Miss Betty Lou Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Owens of East Stroudsburg R.D. 2, became the bride of Gerald Robert Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Moore of Beach Lake, on October 15 at 11:30 a.m. at St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church, East Stroudsburg.

Rev. Edward T. Sullivan performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white chrysanthemums. The bridal pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown in chiffon taffeta featuring a Chantilly lace neckline highlighted in iridescent sequins and pearls, and long sleeves pointed at the wrists. The empire bodice featured a waistline bow accenting a billowing skirt which extended into a aisle-width train. Her veil of the imported silk illusion, was designed in a queen crown embellished with pearls and brilliant. She carrie da cascade bouquet featuring a white orchid surrounded with pompons.

Mrs. Ruth Ames of Mosc , cousin of the bride, as matron of honor wore a street-length, fern green gown in velvet and satin. She wore a matching clutch crown of velvet leaves and organza petals, and carried a cascade bouquet of gold chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Parker, of Stroudsburg, RD 5, and Mrs. Janet Orr of Beach Lake, sister of the groom. They wore honey gold gowns in velvet and satin and matching clutch crowns, and carried bronze chrysanthemums.

The flower girl, Kathy Orr, niece of the bride-groom, wore a floor-length gown of nile green silk organza with a matching headpiece and carried a cascade bouquet of bronze and gold mums and pompons.

William Lesh Jr. of Moscow, cousin of the bride, was best man. The ushers were Donald Orr of Beach Lake and Edwin Nelson of Kings Park, N. Y.

The bride's mother wore moss green lace dress with matching hat and a corsage of pink roses. The bride-groom's mother wore a winter-green and beige lace dress with brown accessories and corsage of yellow roses.

The reception for about 140 guests was held at the Gap View Inn. The bridal table was decorated with green ferns and white chrysanthemums. Music for dinner and dancing was furnished by Tommy Cullens' orchestra.

For traveling by jet-airliner to Nassau, the wore a deep purple suit with matching hat black accessories, and an orchid corsage.

The bride was graduated from East Stroudsburg High School. Previous to her marriage, she was employed by the Bell Telephone Co. of Pa., and now has been transferred to the Huntington office of the Bell Telephone Co., N Y.

Mr. Moore was graduated from Narrowsburg High School, Narrowsburg, N. Y. After serving four years with the U. S. Air Force, he has been employed as aircraft m and for Pan-American Airlines at Idlewild International Airport.

The couple are now making their home at 23 Central St., Green Lawn, Long Island, N. Y.

Faith Coslett Is Baptized

Faith Christine Coslett, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Coslett, of Stroudsburg RD 5, was baptized on Sunday October 23, in Christ Episcopal Church, Stroudsburg. Rev. Charles A. Park officiated. Godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Marion G. Denton of Auburndale, Fla.

Faith wore the same christening dress which was worn by her mother.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Teeter, of 21 Collins St., Stroudsburg, and Mr. and Mrs. George Coslett, 10 Pettibone St., Scranton.

Cancel Meeting

The November meeting of the A. F. Everitt Class of St. John's Lutheran Church has been cancelled. The next meeting of the group will be the Christmas party on December 7.

Stroud Club Pushing For 100% Voting Record

The Stroud Community Club is seeking to have 100 per cent of its members vote in the coming election. At the executive board meeting at the home of Mrs. Oliver Wilson, the president, Mrs. Harold Cleaver, asked all board members to push voting between now and November 8.

The next regular membership meeting will be held November 10 at the PP & L Service Center when Mrs. Elizabeth Noack will present a program on candle making.

Fred Gardners' 44th Anniversary Marked Today

Portland — Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gardner of Main St. are observing their 44th wedding anniversary today.

They were married on November 1, 1916 by Rev. S. H. K. Newton, then pastor of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church at the manse.

Mrs. Gardner is the former Lottie Houck of Portland. Mr. Gardner retired in February, 1959, after 43 years with the Delaware Lackawanna and Western Railroad. He worked at the Portland yard and later as transfer foreman at the freight house in East Stroudsburg.

They have two daughters, Mrs. William Cornwell Jr. of Blairstown, N. J. and Mrs. John Ribble of Portland, and a son, Woodrow Gardner of Binghamton N. Y. They also have six grandchildren.

Mrs. Granacher President Of Camp 151 POA

Tannersville — Installation of officers marked the meeting of Camp 151, Patriotic Order of Americans at Tannersville, with Mrs. Eva Kreimoyer and her staff of Kresgeville in charge. Assistant installing officers were Addie Serfass and Rosa Weliver; chaplain, Emma Trach; color bearers, Florence Zacharias and Lulu Keller; pianist, Verna Shoemaker.

Estelle Granacher was installed as president; Dora Hartman, vice president; Ann Crimbring, assistant president; Gertrude Kresge, conductor; Elizabeth Learn, guard and Laura Niering, chaplain.

Mrs. Learn sang "The Star Spangled Banner." The altar was decorated with Fall flowers and leaves. Autumn decorations also marked the tea table. Other officers presiding were Lottie Werkheiser, recording secretary; Lizzie Butz, financial secretary; Alta Metzgar, treasurer.

Holiday Dance For Collegians

The Christmas holidays will again be something to look forward to for college-age students of the area according to plans to repeat the Holiday Dance with a midnight buffet.

Last year about 150 young people representing more than 40 colleges attended the party sponsored by a group of parents.

Mrs. William Ashley Anderson and Mrs. J. S. Swartley are again serving as chairmen of the volunteer committee.

The date has been set for Friday, December 30, at the Penn-Stroud Hotel with an orchestra, midnight buffet, and special surprise features. The committee emphasized that the dance is open to all college-age students, with or without dates.

In order to keep the price of the tickets within student budgets, the committee is calling other parents inviting them to be patrons for the party. The committee includes Mrs. Eugene Martin, Mrs. Edward Driebe, Mrs. Frank L. Patterson, Mrs. Edward Williams, Mrs. Robert Schell, Mrs. Evan Reese, Mrs. J. L. Cohen and Mrs. Elwood Hintze.

Mrs. William C. Schmauder
(Lens Art)

Carol Ann Zoldy Bride Of William C. Schmauder

Wind Gap. Miss Carol Ann Zoldy, daughter of Mrs. George R. Shoemaker of Pen Argyl RD 1 and the late Eugene G. Zoldy, became the bride of William C. Schmauder, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schmauder of East Third St., Wind Gap, on Saturday afternoon at 3 in the First Methodist Church, Wind Gap.

Rev. Gerald H. Miller of Tannersville performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Carl Simms of Wind Gap.

Given in marriage by her uncle, William E. Houghton, West Babylon, N.Y., the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace and bouquet taffeta, fashioned with a sabrina neckline, long pointed sleeves and a triple bustle. The bouffant skirt ended in a chapel train. Her matching crown held a fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a white Bible with a cascade of Phalaenopsis orchids, ivy and stephanotis.

Miss Estelle Smith of Wind Gap as maid of honor wore a floor-length gown of capucine satin peau with matching headpiece and carried a crescent bouquet of yellow and bronze pompons, wood roses, wheat and fall foliage.

The bridesmaid, Miss Janice Smith of Wind Gap wore a similar gown of mint green satin peau with matching headpiece and carried a crescent bouquet of bronze pompons, wood roses, wheat and fall foliage.

Miss Georganne Shoemaker, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and wore mint green similar to the bridesmaids.

Debra Chamberline, niece of the bridegroom of Easton wore a floor length gown of capucine satin peau with matching headpiece and carried a French basket of yellow and bronze pompons, wheat and fall foliage.

Kermit Chamberlin of Easton was his brother's best man. Ushers were Archie M. Dungey and Brian L. Dungay of Wind Gap, uncle and cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Verna Shook was organist and Mrs. Myrtle Rabenold soloist.

A reception was held in the social rooms of the church.

After a wedding trip to Canada they will reside at 225 A Broadway, Wind Gap.

They are both graduates of Pen Argyl Area Joint High School.

The bride attended Churchman Business College and is employed as a bookkeeper at Wind Gap Coal & Lumber Co. Mr. Schmauder is employed by Willard A. Keller, general contractor.

Shawnee Church Aux.

Shawnee-on-Delaware. — The Women's Aux. of the Shawnee Presbyterian Church will meet on Wednesday night at 8 at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Roeder, Craigs eMadows.

Native Of Java To Speak After Church Supper

Miss Maria Brusse will be the speaker at the Mid-week Service at the First Presbyterian Church of Stroudsburg on Wednesday at 7:15 p.m. She will tell of the work of the pioneer missionary, Johannes von der Steur, in Magelang, Java. It was in the home established by this missionary that Maria, a Dutch-Indonesian born in Surabaya, was brought up, and in that home that she later was headmistress of the small children's department. For three years she owned her own dressmaking business in Surabaya, but her normal work is as secretary and stenographer.

In 1946 Miss Brusse was interned for six months in Indonesia as a Dutch citizen during the war for independence. After 3½ years in Borneo she went to Holland for 6½ years. Three years ago, with the help of the Church World Service she came to East Stroudsburg, being sponsored by the Rev. Frank Wingerter of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church. Miss Brusse will illustrate her talk with slides.

The Wyckoff Shopper — "the friendly store" A.R. Wyckoff

Santa Claus has just arrived at Wyckoff's . . . and a high voltage charmer he is!

I am not being facetious when I say this either, for Santa has his own flashlight battery tucked somewhere inside that "little round belly" or under his fluffy white whiskers, and his eyes light up with a veritable galaxy of Christmas stars. Big as he is, he is seated upon the top of a small metal house. When you snap the button on, his head turns from side to side and he raises and lowers a handful of gifts which he seems to offer in a true expression of good will.

If you prefer a snowman to Santa, we have him too . . . and he too is battery operated. Taller than Santa, he is made of shaggy white fabric, and has two red bulbs for eyes, and a high black hat of plastic with a pom pom of snow atop. When the switch is turned on, this snowball rises above his hat, and dances up and down in the air, while his eyes gleam, his head turns from side to side, and he waves a big broom from left to right in rhythmic repetition.

Both are enchanting, and have a way of "snapping" a switch in the heart of the beholder. Instinctively you smile when you see them, and feel your own eyes light up. At 3.98, they're a happy combination of Christmas toy and Christmas joy, and, on the mantel or in the window, OH BOY!

• • •

Recently I was told by one customer that she thought some of our jewelry was very expensive. "It's 35.00 and more," she said, "and it's plastic. Pretty . . . but plastic." I argued that maybe she had read a 3.50 tag incorrectly, but she wasn't convinced.

Today the riddle was solved. I was walking past the jewelry department when I overheard one woman tell another, "It's perfectly beautiful, but it surprises me how many people do not know what amber is." Her companion agreed. "If you didn't know, you would almost think it was plastic."

I stopped to look, and I can see what the lady meant . . . particularly in regard to one necklace that combines flat disks of light and dark amber.

Amber is, of course, one of the precious gems that has been known for years . . . MILLIONS OF YEARS, and has been created from the sap of huge trees that were snapped off and crushed under tons of ice during the Ice Age. It is a gem much prized by the queens of early Rome . . . has legends galore associated with it . . . is said to store up static electricity and work medical miracles (an old wives' tale, of course) and very often one can see in its polished depths the fossils of plant and insect life of aeons ago.

Our amber jewelry at Wyckoff's is among our most precious, and is stunning in both the polished and rough forms. But one must know what it is to truly apreciate it. Believe me, it isn't plastic . . . and, for its quality, it isn't expensive. Because of its ageless splendor, it would be a most appropriate Christmas gift for someone very special.

• • •

Because I'm a sentimentalist, I like our Edgar Guest Christmas cards . . . because I'm a woman, I appreciate the touch of glitter Seamprufe waltz gowns and baby doll pajamas boast with just two sequins in their nylon lace yokes . . . because I like bargains, I approve the genuine leather clutch bags in turquoise, coral, gray, and other colors offered by Bea Gorgy at 1.98, and the roomy bags of imported tapestry at 5.00—almost as pretty as the bigger roomier 7.98 to 10.50 selection . . . because I never know what time it is I am intrigued by our big selection of clocks priced from 3.98 to 100-and-some dollars. Because I see too much around this store, this column is too long!

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

TUESDAY, NOV. 1

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—While planetary aspects are not entirely auspicious delicate work and artistic matters are favored. Be sensibly cautious in money matters, all hazardous activities. Avoid worry, strain and you will work better.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Your Venus well aspected now. Other planets are not so friendly. Make good use of opportunities coming your way and don't waste time needed for accomplishment. Your interests can advance.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Do not give in to inertia or carelessness. These days are as important as when everything looks rosy. We just have to work harder, be more alert.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—While stellar aspects are not entirely friendly, you should nevertheless be spurred on to quicker action to attain desired results. Be patient with those slower than you; they will aid in other ways.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Your natural exuberance and good cheer will prove big aids today. The first few days of this month call for extra care in scrutinizing new projects.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Though this day stresses extra patience and caution with finances, signing contracts, etc., artistic professions and designing are honored and, since these lines are in your sphere use them.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Your indications similar to Taurus now. Don't stray too far fro your specific talents and capability. Skill, artistry can be utilized to advantage in many endeavors so exercise yours.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Enlarge your field of endeavor to include matters that require ornamentation. You are skilled and can better any project you set your heart on. Don't procrastinate.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Mild Jupiter influences. You can have a thriving day if you do not reach too far for gain or expect the unreasonable.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Avoid dangers connected with hazardous work, surgery, handling sharp tools, machinery, etc. With technique and good judgment, however, you can make good.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—"Your" planet Uranus in propitious aspect. You might advance more quickly adding more finesse and a fresh tack. However, don't override others' wishes without due cause.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Your influences now are approaching a new benefic position. Plan wisely as you start the day and don't be hasty. Familiar matters favored.

YOU BORN TODAY: This sector of the Zodiac has given us great artists, sculptors, painters, mental giants. You have versatile talents and good mental powers. Are you developing your assets to the fullest? Keep studying and improving; correct faults and dedicate yourself to high aims and advancement. You can succeed in any business or work to which you are attached and for which have real liking. Birthdate:

E-Burg 31-7 Victors

JACK Van Horn scored two touchdowns and passed for a third as East Stroudsburg's Junior Varsity football team scored an easy 31 to 7 victory over Stroud Union High's jayvees yesterday on Gordon Giffels Field.

Van Horn raced 17 yards for the opening touchdown of the game, went five yards in the second period for another and threw a 35-yard pass to Dick Dieter, also in the second period.

In the same period, Dieter scored again, on a 25-yard pass from Doug Hilliard. Bob Corby scored the final East Stroudsburg touchdown in the last period on a 14-yard sprint which saw him spin away from two Stroudsburg tacklers at the 10-yard line. Bill Reese passed to Hilliard for the extra point.

Don Baylor took care of all of Stroud Union's scoring with a 38-yard dash for a TD and a run for the extra point in the fourth quarter.

Bill Werkheiser, Stroudsburg tackle, was injured in the third period, but it was not believed serious.

Bangor JVs Turn Back Visiting Nazareth 18-6

BANGOR — Bangor High School JVs displayed some powerful running ability in the first half yesterday as they dropped Nazareth JVs 18 to 7, at Memorial Stadium.

Sherwood Heard, Dick Pozzutto, and Carmen Communale, all took turns at tallying touchdowns in the first two periods.

But the junior Slaters met some stiff opposition after the intermission and were blanked throughout the way. Fumbling was the Slaters downfall. The Nazareth yearlings pushed across a score in the closing minutes of the game after Jack Finelli, JV coach, cleared the bench.

'Case' Seen Manager Of Los Angeles

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel may be the field manager and general manager of the American League's new Los Angeles club if and when Hank Greenberg and Bill Veeck acquire the new franchise, the Associated Press learned Monday.

Greenberg and Veek virtually are certain to own the Los Angeles club, which will operate next year. They are expected to dispose of their holdings in the Chicago White Sox soon after the American League, at its scheduled meeting Nov. 17, approves their bid for the California franchise.

Veeck made the offer to Stengel last week before the 70-year-old baseball genius left New York for his Glendale, Calif., home. Casey promised to give the matter serious consideration and give his answer in three weeks. A source close to Stengel said Casey would accept.

Stengel, who was dismissed by the New York Yankees two weeks ago, after he had brought the club 10 pennants and seven world championships in 12 years, acknowledged he had received four baseball offers since his dismissal, but he declined to identify them.

Veeck is president and principal stockholder of the White Sox. He headed a syndicate that purchased the club from the Comiskey family two years ago. Greenberg is vice president and a 20 per cent stockholder.

Special Meet Of WIBC Group

THERE WILL be a meeting of the Monroe County W.I.B.C. Bowling Ass'n. on Wednesday, Nov. 2 at 8 p.m. in the Towne Room of the Town Tavern, Main St., Stroudsburg.

All officers and members are urged to attend, as at that time there will be an awarding of the tickets and plans will be made for the annual tournament.

Refreshments will be served.

Buffalo, And Dallas To Join NL

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The Buffalo Evening News Monday said the National League will award franchises to Buffalo and Dallas-Fort Worth and expand to 12 teams at its annual meeting in December.

The National League, which meets in St. Louis Dec. 5, recently expanded to 10 teams, adding Houston and New York for the 1962 season. The Evening News said the 12-team alignment would be put into operation in 1963 or 1964.

The newspaper quoted Branch Rickey, president of the defunct Continental League, as saying he had talked with several National League club owners and commissioner Ford Frick and had learned of their agreement on such expansion.

ERA Heads In Majors

NEW YORK (AP) — Young Mike McCormick of the San Francisco Giants and Frank Baumann of the Chicago White Sox won the major League earned run championships in 1960, final averages revealed Monday. Both pitchers are left-handed.

McCormick led the National League with a 2.70 ERA, and Baumann topped the American with 2.68, according to figures compiled by the Associated Press.

McCormick finished the past season with 15 victories and 12 losses. He gave up 76 earned runs in 253 innings and pitched four shutouts—three against the Los Angeles Dodgers. In 1959, the Pasadena, Calif., native had a 12-16 record and a 3.98 ERA.

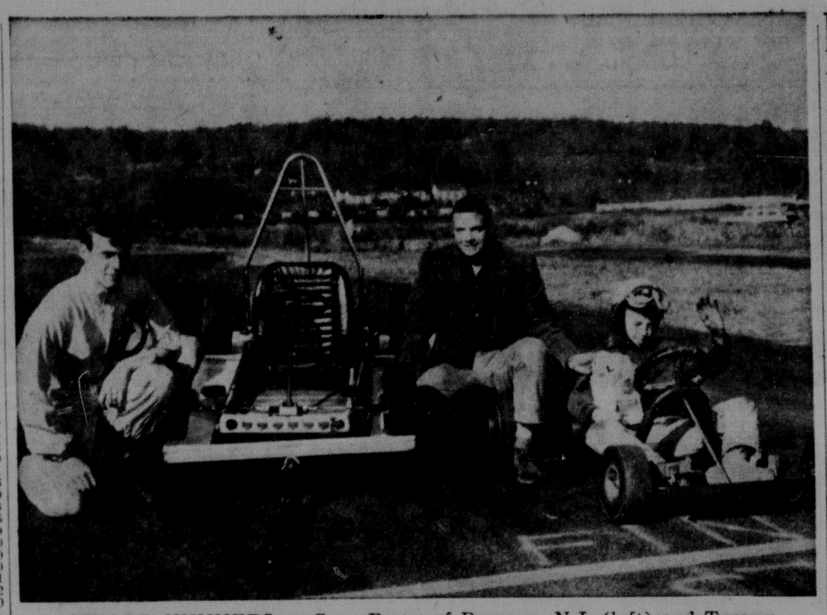

Baumann's 1960 won-lost record was 13-6. He is the first White Sox pitcher to win earned run title since Billy iPerce in 1955.

Jim Bunning of Detroit was the American League runner-up with a 2.79 mark. He yielded 78 earned runs in 252 innings while winning 11 games and losing 14.

Whitey Ford of New York, the ERA champio nin 1956 and 1958, was third with 3.02 followed by Art Ditmar of the Yankees and Hector Brown of Baltimore, 3.06 each.

Ernie Broglio, a 21-game winner for the St. Louis Cardinals, was second in the National League. He gave up 69 earned runs in 226 innings for a 2.75 earned run mark. Broglio had three shutouts.

Don Drysdale of the Dodgers was third at 2.84. The big right-hander pitched five shutouts and led the majors in strikeouts with 246. Bob Friend of the pennant-winning Pittsburgh Pirates and Stan Williams of Los Angeles tied for fourth with 3.00.

T. DeRenzis Wins Junior Kart Title

NEW JERSEY entries dominated the racing events at Pocono Kart Kourse at East Stroudsburg on Sunday.

The only local winner was speedster Tommy DeRenzis who captured the both the Junior modified class and a 50-lap event.

The program Sunday was the finale for the summer points season. It was reported by Skip Miller, head of racing at the course, that there will be a special November points season beginning on Sunday, at 12 noon and continuing every Sunday until Nov. 27. Large trophies will be awarded to the top point winners in each and every class at the close of this campaign.

Gene Faatz, of Paramus, N. J., and Tommy DeRenzis, of Stroudsburg were top winners for the summer racing program. Faatz was named top driver in Senior division and DeRenzis took title to the Junior class.

Other results on Sunday were:

Junior A Bushing Class

1. Arthur Auger, Wyckoff, N. J. 2. John Colavito, Newark, N. J. 3. Chuck Corby, Glen Rock, N. J.

Junior Mod. Class

Scout Released

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves said Monday that scout Wid Mathews had asked for and received permission to look for another job elsewhere in the major leagues. Mathews, a veteran of the Chicago Cubs organization, joined the Braves in 1956.

Harlem Magician Five To Play Pocono All-Stars

MORE HILARIOUS than ever are the mighty Harlem Magicians of basketball, who come into town to face the Pocono Mountain All-Stars in the feature game at the Stroud Union High School gym on Tuesday, Nov. 22 at 8 p. m.

With this great talented club, Marques Haynes, star, manager and owner was very lucky indeed in securing the services of Sam "Boom" Wheeler. A name that will be well spoken of.

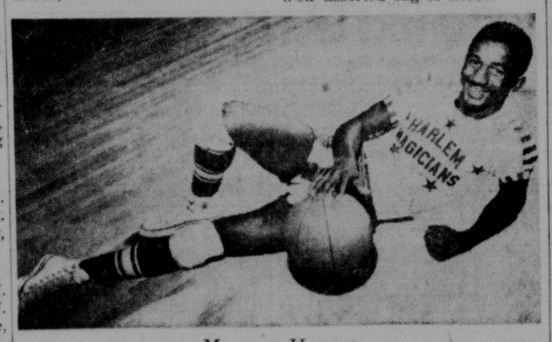

"Look at Sam, the Funny Man," is fast becoming the cry of fans who have seen the Harlem Magicians play basketball. Sam "Boom" Wheeler is the star center and funnyman with the fun loving Magicians. The program is sponsored by the Pocono Mountain Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Standing 6' 3", Wheeler is a player who is said to do more tricks with a basketball than many a live magician has up his sleeve. He is the "Delirious" man of the Magicians 3-D basketball—Dribbling, Dazzling and Delirious.

In every game, Sam Wheeler is liable to fake a pass to a teammate and then hide the ball under his jersey, walk around the floor helping everyone look for the ball, or just when his team is in a tight game, he may see a camera fan, he will stop playing ball, borrow the camera and then snap his own picture. You will see him wander off the court and borrow a pair of eyeglasses from a spectator and loan them to the official working the game. On the playing side, Sam is noted for his fancy shots with his back to the basket. Despite his crazy antics on the playing floor he is an accomplished ballplayer.

Sam is also the gentleman. He will apologize to his teammates when he makes a mistake and many a time he will help the opponents by telling them who has the ball.

Fans who have never seen this talented array of basketball stars and funsters will be in for an evening of roundball entertainment when they see the World Famous Harlem Magicians open their assorted bag of tricks.

Dark Named New Pilot Of Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Alvin Dark, former field captain of the Giants, Monday was named the new San Francisco baseball manager and given a two year contract.

The 37-year-old National League veteran, with no previous managerial experience, succeeds Tom Sheehan who took over from fired Bill Rigney last June 18.

To get Dark, who finished the 1960 season with Milwaukee, the Giants traded utility infielder Andre Rodgers to the Braves.

Dark played for the Giants from 1950 to 1955, and was the spark-plug shortstop of the championship clubs of 1951 and 1954.

His selection was announced Monday by Vice President Charles Feeney.

To Dark goes the job of rejuvenating a club that finished fifth last season after many tabbed it the pennant winner in the preseason forecasts. The Giants were second when Rigney was fired but wound up 16 games off the Pittsburgh Pirates' pace.

Salary terms for the two-year contract were not disclosed.

Wanted To Manage

Asked whether managing a team had been a long-time desire, Dark replied that most ball players have the desire to manage as soon as they start playing.

"I have always wanted to stay in baseball in some capacity," he said.

Dark will meet with President Horace Stoneham of the Giants at the major league conferences in December. Most of his consultations with the Giant front office, prior to next season, will be by telephone. Dark said he has many speaking engagements lined up and feels he is committed to keep them.

Both Stoneham and Sheehan sent cabled congratulations to Dark and welcomed him back to the Giant fold. They are in Japan where the Giants are playing a series of exhibition games.

Dark was asked if he thought the Giants had too many Negro players and replied: "I don't see how you can separate players. I hear on TV every day that if a man has ability he should be given the opportunity to express his ability."

In answering the question, the new manager declared: "Some people might think that because I'm from the South I'm prejudiced. But I have played with many Negroes and I never thought I'd treat a colored fellow unfairly."

Giants Win On Homer

TOKYO (AP) — Willie McCovey's ninth-inning home run, a 429-foot shot into the center field stands with the bases empty, broke a tie and gave the San Francisco Giants a 3-2 victory over the Japanese All-Stars Sunday.

It was McCovey's fourth home run and the Giants' fourth victory in seven games on their Japan tour.

Left-hander Billy O'Dell, second of three Giant pitchers, was credited with the victory.

TOURNAMENT CHAMP — John Fish, (left) who captured the first three golfing tournaments at Mountain Manor, Marshalls Creek in 1957-58-59 is presented the tournament trophy. Russell Scott, Jr., owner of the resort makes the presentation.

Charles Potcher Gains Mountain Manor Victory

JOHN FISH was dethroned on Saturday at the Fourth Annual golfing tournament at Mountain Manor, Marshalls Creek.

Charles Potcher, who garnered a low net of 70, was declared as the new champion.

Second place was John Fish, in third was Babe Metzgar and in fourth spot was Bob Ludgate with 71's.

Fish received a golfing cup for his three consecutive wins in 1957-58-59. The presentation was made by Russell Scott, Jr.

Harold Stettler, of Marshalls Creek and Fred Cornell of New York City, both posted low gross scores of 78. Dick Adams of Easton was third in the field and Bud Wisegraver, of Minisink Hills, finished fourth. All had 80's.

Sixty-seven players toured the tournament. Sandwiches and coffee were served and a buffet luncheon was served at 3 p.m.

Lock Haven And W. Chester In Title Clash On Nov. 19

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Lock Haven and West Chester will meet Nov. 19 at Lock Haven for the Pennsylvania State Colleges Football Conferenee champion.

Lock Haven clinched the western section title over the weekend by nosing out Indiana 14-7. West Chester, one of the two undefeated and untied collegiate elevens in the state, was assured of the eastern section championship as East Stroudsburg upset Bloomsburg 21-20.

West Chester could lose its remaining conference game with Bloomsburg and still garner enough rating points for the sectional championship. Caliber of opposition and victories determine the point rating.

The standings:

ESC Girl 1st Team

CHRISTINE Albright, an East Stroudsburg State College sophomore, has been named to first all-college field hockey team. She hails from Lansdale.

The selections were made over the weekend in Philadelphia as all-college tournament in field hockey got underway. Twelve colleges were represented in the tournament.

Coach Anne Venezia's girl team defeated Beaver 2 to 1 and Swarthmore 5 to 0 while playing a 1 to 1 tie with a strong Temple aggregation, during the two-day competition.

Two other ESSC girls were placed on the third team. They were Becky Ross, of Mechanicsburg and Andrea Farris, of East Stroudsburg.

Honorable mentions were Mary Lou Seacock, Sue Schotta, and Sandra Heffentrager.

Five Temple players were selected for the first team, while East Stroudsburg, West Chester, Ursinus, and Drexel, added one each.

Bowling Schedule

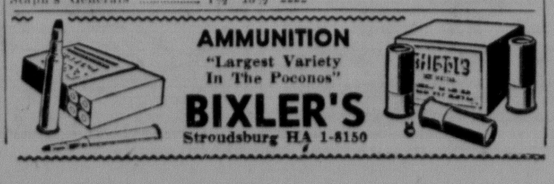

EAST Stroudsburg Ladies League will bowl tonight at 6:45 p.m. in Harmon's Recreation.

Town Tavern vs. Weichel Buick, alleys one and two; Pardee Beach Club vs. Dunn's Tavern, alleys three and four; and Eagles vs. Square Bar, alleys five and six.

MAJOR LEAGUE CITIES — Seventeen cities will have major league baseball as result of expansion plans okayed by the American and National Leagues. The AL has added Los Angeles and Minneapolis, St. Paul — to their loop with play to resume in 1961. The senior circuit has approved New York City in addition to Houston, Texas. The three largest populated cities in the country —New York, Chicago, and Los Angeles will each have franchises in both loops. The two National League additions aren't expected to participate until the 1962 season.

THE AJAX Card Club made their annual tour of New York City recently, attending a performance of "Gypsy" and a television broadcast. The group included Olga Manhart, Eleanore Staph, Virginia Rohrbacker, Barthelia Barnes, Alberta Beesecker, Martha Smith, Doris Bartleson and Lydia Frey.

Sterling Youth Fellowship will have a Halloween party on Oct. 31 for members and their guests. Anyone coming unmasked will be fined.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kozlovsky, Sterling, have returned from a vacation trip which took them to Carteret, New Jersey, where they visited with their Summer neighbors, Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Weiss; and to Hartford, Connecticut, where they were the guests of Mr. Kozlovsky's brother, Gus.

Policy

The Daily Record reserves the right to refuse publication, or to edit such advertising, which it feels is not in the best interest of its readers.

Closing Time

Want ads accepted from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. for the following day and until 12 noon Saturday for Monday edition.

Deadline for Classified Display: 3:00 p.m. 2 days prior to publication.

You are only charged for the number of days your ad appears in the paper.

However, Want Ads now appearing in the Classified Section, may be cancelled up to 3:00 p.m. Classified Display ads may be cancelled up to 11:00 a.m. for the next day's edition.

Adjustments

Errors, not the fault of the advertiser, which clearly lessens the value of the advertisement, should be corrected the first day, when one extra corrected insertion will be made without charge. The Record assumes no responsibility for error after the first insertion.

Box replies received yesterday were: 184, 188, 189, 191, 192.

The Daily Investor

Investment Companies

By William A. Doyle

Q. Studying up on a certain closed-end investment company, I read that "the company has sizable unrealized capitol losses in a number of utility stocks. Under present tax laws, this will enable this investment company to pay tax-free dividends for many years to come."

Does this mean that, if I own stock in this investment company, I will not have to pay Federal income taxes on the dividends I receive?

William A. Doyle

A. That's the general idea — but not the whole story. To be accurate about this, these are not "dividends." They are (hang on to your alphabet) "reduction of tax-cost basis distribution."

There are a number of investment companies (mostly closed-enders) with this setup. And most of them are the corporate descendants of the old public utility holding companies. They have been reorganized or are in the process of reorganizing into investment companies.

Each of these investment companies owns a lot of stock (usually in electric and gas utility companies) which was purchased many years ago at very high prices. So, each of these investment companies has big "unrealized losses" on those stocks.

Every year each of these investment companies sells enough of those high-cost stocks to establish a loss equal to all its earnings and profit for the year.

As a result, the investment company does not show any profit. But it does have cash, which it sends to its shareholders in the form of reduction of tax-cost basis distributions.

Each distribution received by a shareholder reduces the tax-cost basis of the shares he owns.

For instance, if you buy shares of an investment company at $25 a share and receive $5 a share in reduction of tax-cost basis distributions, your tax-cost basis becomes $20 a share.

If you sell the investment company shares at a price higher than your tax-cost basis, you have realized a profit. That profit is subject to capital-gains taxes.

Q. I own 30 shares of Sinclair Oil common stock. I received a dividend check for $22.50 every three months, until September. Then, when the dividend check arrived, it was for $15. Doesn't the company have to notify stockholders when it cuts the dividend?

A. This answer may not satisy you, but the company did make a public announcement of its dividend, as it has always done and as it should.

Dividends paid on common stock may be raised or lowered at any time by the company's board of directors.

Sinclair increased dividends on its common stock to $3 a year, (75 cents every three months) in 1936.

The latest dividend (50 cents a share) you received was declared on Aug. 17. It was payable Sept. 8 to stockholders of record Sept. 1. Since that time, another dividend of the same amount has been declared. It is payable Dec. 10 to stockholders of record Nov. 10.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone querries.)

No Injuries In Accident

CARS operated by Ellen J. Linn, 67, of Wilkes-Barre, and Michael Chopek, 48, of 284 Brodhead Ave., East Stroudsburg, collided yesterday at 12:59 p.m. at the intersection of Fifth and Main Streets. No injuries were reported.

Stroudsburg police investigating the accident said Mrs. Linn told them, "The light was green as I entered the intersection and turned after I was in the intersection. I was traveling east on Main St. at the time."

Chopek had stopped for the traffic signal at the intersection and when the light changed he entered the intersection. He told police, "The light changed and I started to go through the intersection. I did not see the other car until it was in front of me."

Chopek was traveling south on Fifth Street.

Patrolman Russell Decker and William Dwyer, investigating the accident, estimated the damage to each car at $125 and said that both cars had to be towed away from the scene of the accident.

Mrs. Linn was driving a 1947 Dodge and Chopek was operating a 1960 Ford Station Wagon.

The police are continuing their investigation.
